aweesome update tho!

Bluffer - August 15, 2018, 2:47 pm

Very nice I love gambling.

Edit: Took me less than 2 minutes to lose all my bytes. Definitely sounds like my usual luck while gambling lol.

Also I see a ton of possibilities with this, maybe we could have a page that tracks those who've won the most and if there could be maybe one major jackpot / day that could be listed on a page,etc.

Biggy - August 15, 2018, 2:48 pm

That is honestly fucking awesome. Amazing work boys.

Even the music addition... just 10/10 for it all.

Givenchy - August 15, 2018, 2:48 pm

I'm officially addicted to gambling right now.

I'm sorry i am just playing it for the sound it makes every time it spins, no regrets!

It's all logged so stats are possible but right now I want to see how often this is used and how well it performs on the server. Basically work out the kinks first. We haven't really adjusted the payable or odds yet.

I also plan on adding a Blackjack script. Unfortunately it is a player vs dealer only, no multiple players per table. But it's still pretty good.

When more of the games are added to HF I can do things like awards maybe too.

Looks like the house edge was about 10% based on the win/loss since we started the Slots. I'd prefer to only have a 2-5% house edge and so I've altered top payout from 200 Bytes to 250 Bytes per credit bet. That should bring house cut down a few points.

I don't want to use Slot and other games we add as a way to zero out MYPS but to inspire activity and fun on the site.

(Aug 20, 2018 10:53 AM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Looks like the house edge was about 10% based on the win/loss since we started the Slots. I'd prefer to only have a 2-5% house edge and so I've altered top payout from 200 Bytes to 250 Bytes per credit bet. That should bring house cut down a few points.

I don't want to use Slot and other games we add as a way to zero out MYPS but to inspire activity and fun on the site.

Thanks! A lowered house edge is always nice ? Maybe I'll lose my bytes a little slower.

The signature market gives it value IMO. Because of current prices, I'd price it at about $0.015 a byte. When it was first introduced you could get even more for them. Being able to buy awards would also add to their value.

No, the server handles all of the spin logic. If you don't receive an error and the slots start stopping then your spin was already processed and Bytes added/removed accordingly.

Yeah good idea. Because I've lost more than I gained and I'm sure it's designed like that. To be sure, I saw the stats page on slots.php and I'm right, people lose more than they gain. In the 1st week of introduction, I won more than I lost. Now I assume, it's been readjusted to work this way. So, haven't been there for 4 days now. Earlier I used to be there alot.

Imo, if people are losing Bytes then, drastically the slots machine will be obsolete in future.

Isn't it like, typically if you're gambling then the point is to usually lose more than you gain, and if you ARE lucky to win then you should probably finish there?

I'm not sure how casinos work. But isn't it that someone lucky gains more than the rest and with some percentage to the casino owner?

I checked the 24h highest Bytes winner's profile and there are no Bytes left, I wonder where are those Bytes. If he lost all those by gambling again, then there should be someone else who's got those Bytes (in this case I believe it goes to the casino owner[help bot]).

So at the end, no one gains?

You can purchase signature spaces, or you could try using them as a substitute for currency. I'll exchange your bytes for awards/btc. It sounds like there are future plans for them as-well. I'm eager to see what features will be introduced later on down the road.

Basically all you have to do is get closest to 21 without going over 21 or you "bust".. The black jack bot always seems to get 21 though it's ridiculous. ?

It's that way all the time but you can actually earn pretty good if you know how to play. I've always had great luck in Vegas with black jack.

I know how to play blackjack. The thing is if I already have 20. Hitting is a 12/13 chance of busting.

You can now play your HF Bytes into our new slot machine.

Enjoy everyone.

Omni - rather then creating a separate thread I thought it would be better if I write my idea here.

I think an auto-spin feature would be great addition to slot machine.

So we can just let it spin and chill.

The bigger amounts you play with the quicker you can build up by winning.
