Thread: is it possible too do a small view bot too my twitch channel?

lookingfortwitchbot - August 15, 2018, 6:05 pm

So ive cashed out all my poker winnings and got around 90k , ive spent lots of money on serious Big Shark fishing equipment because i had a Epiphany That my Live Stream idea on twitch , A Land Based shark fishing channel from the beach will be a gold mine... Because there is not a single other channel like what im doing.....but im new and my channel is always at the bottom because low viewers and no body knows me because all these other Stupid boring fucks are up the top In IRL section doing NOTHING... Stupid E-Thots , girls sitting in front of PC doing nothing,... While im outside actually providing content... catching big ass sharks and fish ..but im on the bottom of the IRL section...

Today i was looking at a service called botcamp.site and they mentioned Hack-Forums , so i came here and wanting too ask if anyone knows of this service and if its trusted ? if this is the wrong section mods please help me post this in right section, im new too this site and would like some advice, im even willing too pay people that can help me promote my stream..i have no friends in the streaming community and this is what i want too do with my life, im 24 and dont wanna work a normal 9 too 5 job for some cunt who wouldnt give 2 fucks about me... please guys any advice on this site im talking about would be appreciated ?

Just go to the premium tools section, theres a few twitch view bots being sold on there.

Yea my dude there's a lot of people who can do stuff like this ! Maybe check a few of the different sections. I have a panel for views/followers and such. I can check if it has a twitch view bot if you really need. ?

There are some on here, but I'm sure they're pretty pricey.
