This guy agreed on exchanging his BTC to my $100 AGC for 70%. I agreed on going first, I gave him the code and he said "Got it, just give me a few". It has passed a day already and he hasn't been online since he sent me the PM.

<https://gyazo.com/93180d96a5a6998f9b72d0ddf78a9073> = him agreeing to exchange his BTC for my AGC.

<https://gyazo.com/dfac50a4cc872c009965f36ebd9ff215> = me giving him the $100 AGC, with the address.

<https://gyazo.com/ace568a8be892a4c1dc28e0c903b45d6> = his last message to him. He hasn't been online since.

I will close the dispute if he refunds me my $70 in btc to my address.

Maybe something came up, you never know. Also, invalid since there is no contract linked to it.

This is not a valid dispute since you did not add a link to a contract in the OP.
