

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: Does riot still respond to chargebacks?

STANDARD - August 17, 2018, 10:42 am

As the title suggests, or have they changed their system?

JuStBenZiN - August 17, 2018, 10:53 pm

They actually do, but they usually instantly ban your account before you even have the chance to talk to them.

NA Riven - August 19, 2018, 6:22 am

No they dont its ok to cb a big company

xShadowAlk - August 19, 2018, 10:07 am

(Aug 19, 2018 06:22 AM)NA Riven Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) No they dont its ok to cb a big company
Can confirm.

Source: I personally charged back $300 and riot didn't even care. I got to keep all my skins as well.

SUI-3183372 - August 19, 2018, 1:05 pm

Dumb friend just lost a $1,000 account for charging back $450 over the last 2 weeks.

Riot's response was that they'd unban the account if he repaid the full amount. He asked if they offered payment plans and they said no, that he needed to pay the $450 back in full or the account will remain banned.

?lex - August 20, 2018, 10:21 am

They don't respond directly to the chargeback, but they usually ban your account. I've had a friend that disputed $400 and when he asked them about unbanning the account, the answer was the same as the user above. Pay in full and get it back, else no. So don't risk it. You can do it if they ban you though.