Taking a 3 month minimum vacation ban at the end of tonight minimum but doubt I'll return.

Met some cool people on here but starting a new career in the military next week and want to focus 100% on it at least until I am settled in.

Pce.

Claim down the military won't take all of your time

Be safe with that next step in your life my dude ! Sounds like an exciting one. You'll probably be back tho ;) who wouldn't wanna scroll through HF in the middle of a battle field. ?

See you later potato chip.

Not to mention I've heard from people already in the forces (who have been to places like Iraq/Afghanistan/East Timor) that it's one of the toughest jobs mentally. I don't use HF for anything productive anymore, only for killing time and enjoyment of which I have very little. Besides, I never said I was leaving permanently otherwise I would just ask for an account closure. Eventually I would like to come back but I want to be 100% settled in at my new job before I do and even if I do it would be purely to lurk.

Sounds like you have the right mind-set my dude. You got this shit. But yea HF would be a nice little escape from the stress in my opinion. But i'll hopefully be here when you're back! Id love to hear about it all.

I highly doubt you'll be deployed after basic. I'm closing in to 3 years and haven't deployed yet. All I do is work, video games and study.

One of the last genuinely decent people I've met on this site. I wish you luck bud, and keep in touch.

You're right. I'll go straight into employment training for the next 6 months. Considering I am doing a job which can result in major loss of life if I fuck up, I want to put 100% into it with no distractions.

Thanks dude. You're an awesome guy too. I'll try and check in on Discord every once in awhile.
