Thread: [\[Rolex\] GMT Master II](#)

zSerity - August 22, 2018, 8:25 pm

I was apprehensive about spending $10.8k CAD on a watch my whole ride there but right when I saw it in person, it was a closed deal. Unfortunately, I wasn't able to get a discount because of the model (sells for higher on second-hand sites), but I did get some cool Rolex swag like the travel pouch and cleaning cloth.

This is the first Rolex I've purchased and can't wait for it to last a lifetime.

Hey I'm located in Toronto.

Looking for someone to do business with, shoot me a pm if you have any interested in starting something

Cobalts - August 23, 2018, 5:18 pm

Looks awesome! You should send it to me so I can borrow it haha

Goku???? - August 24, 2018, 2:17 am

That looks so clean man! Love the look.

Adsmte - August 24, 2018, 2:22 am

Congrats for your first rolex ! :D looks neat and hot af

The teachers who give and check such homework aren't able to afford a rolex, quite funny if you think about it.

Yessssir, will also be the reason I'm getting a house and car soon even if it's the smallest house ever xD

And in reality teachers SHOULD be some of the highest paid people around, but they make shit
I think pilots should be paid way more as well

Muddy - August 24, 2018, 11:48 am

Dude, you could have gotten your discount at StockX I just completed the last sale for a GMT-Master for 7850 and the lowest ask rn is 8k. My purchase came with original box, receipts, COA and additional links looks good on your wrist!

<https://stockx.com/rolex-gmt-master-ii-116710ln-black>

A pilots job seems the hardest. If they lose attention for a small while you have the deaths of hundreds of people on your hand(I dont know about how things like auto pilot work but it should require a human to be there i believe).

I paid $10,800 Canadian Dollars with tax at the rolex store which is $8283 USD. Plus if I paid $8k for that used one on StockX, I would have to pay over a grand in import duties.

I'd rather pay less for a brand new 2018 watch that is from an AD lol.

Auto pilot can pretty much land a plane by itself so they won't crash by letting it take control but certainly need to still monitor it

I could never make myself responsible for that many people though, no thanks ?

Next I wanna get my hands on a GMT Batman

2073436 - August 24, 2018, 3:44 pm

That's exactly the one I would buy! Great choice, hope you like it man.

Replicas - August 24, 2018, 4:24 pm

Hey Z. Long time no talk man! You should've just gotten a Chinese replica for $300 or so. Some are so good, not even a professional jeweler could tell the difference.

Nikon D3400 =) Cheap as hell and a beast of a Camera

Why? I would rather wear my beautiful $400 citizen watch than an overpriced knock-off.

It's more about it being the REAL deal to me no matter how good the replica is because I'd be better off getting a Seiko or something in the 300 range

A replica doesn't give you hundreds of years of heritage and craftsmanship, it's also not going to last a lifetime and will have no resale value

I love your hustle!

Keep up the good work, dude.

Just one tip, don't keep all your eggs in one basket. Since you have conquered HF, I would suggest you to start another business like FBA or dropshipping.

I have already been employing this advice, except in the sense of expanding my already existing business (WriteWave) to other platforms! I'm now on social media, among a range of other websites. Been going great so far, even though HF is still definitely my main source of traffic. I'll never leave here unless they kick me out. ?

Thanks though man. Successful people wish success on others. I can tell you are doing well yourself.

I wanna get my hands on a hulk submariner one day :P

Reversman - October 6, 2018, 3:56 pm

Saving for one hopefully myself

Yeah the first watch purchase will have you staring at your wrist for a long time.
It's pretty awesome, they're fucking gorgeous when you get the one you like, regardless of price.

edit: I might pick up a rolex one day, but I'm still happy with my omega

I still remember that rose gold Omega on the leather strap you posted awhile ago, was in the 8k range right?

Beautiful watch as well, and an amazing brand! I really want an Omega sea-master style watch or an entry level Patek next.

Rolex though, above it just being so damn recognized, I love it. Amazing extended warranty, and they keep their value especially the professional steel sports models like the GMT!

And hahaha, I couldn't stop inspecting my watch under a loupe and desk lamp for like the first month. I've finally chilled a bit though, I don't really take it off either now unless I work out. I sleep and shower with it on lmao

Yep that's the one, and yeah price is 7k-8k depending on jeweler

Yeah Rolex is a clean af brand

That's why I'm looking into them, they've got that clean precision look that so many watches can't pull off. There's 100% a feel difference between a $400 watch and the luxury brands. And it feels like a new car getting one, fuck it's nice to look at and it never gets less beautiful.

I recommend you put your name on a waitlist and try to get a 116710BLNR (batman) at retail price. It will never go down in value, but expect to wait at least 2-years to get it at retail price unless you have solid connections with an authorized dealer. Overall though, get whatever you love. I really like the dressy type datejust 41's as well with the jubilee bracelet. I got my name on the waitlist for a 126710BLRO (pepsi) but don't think it will ever happen... at least not in the next 5 years lol. If it does though, they sell for 11k retail at the authorized dealer and 18k-22k from second-hand dealers so I could make mad profit. :P

And oh yeah trust me bro I get you. People who say it's a waste of money and just a "Watch" (aka they could get a $20 watch for the same feeling) are unfortunate to never be able to experience this. Plus whenever we need motivation to work hard and keep grinding, we just have to glance down at the wrist to know that hard work = everything xD That's mainly what I got it for, to reward myself for busting my ass these past 4 years.

Agreed, same with the submariner but it's almost hard to tell them apart from a distance.

I ultimately like the GMT more though just for the extra GMT hand, I travel a lot so it's super useful

MonEy - October 12, 2018, 2:57 pm

Absolutely beautiful watch, congratulations brother. I bought my first Rolex a year or two ago, I have a Datejust with a custom white gold diamond bezel.

I was thinking of getting a GMT Master or a Submariner 'Hulk' next, what do you think I should pick?

My authorized dealer won't even put me on the waitlist for a Hulk because there is so many people :(
