

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: Do you guys shave?

Rael - August 28, 2018, 10:08 pm

What a question!

Hey there I'm a guy who usually doesn't have too much to shave I always use disposable razors, or go to the barber shop and get a deep clean cut.

Nowadays I feel like quality is really bad on the razors I'm getting (Third World Country)

So I'm asking on advice to purchase an electric shaver under 100$ that can provide a clean deep cut I know for a fact that electric shavers are by no means a barber razor, barber razors are better. I'm just looking for the lazy way.

So far I've stumbled upon 3 that has caught my attention:

Braun Series 3

Wahl 5 Star Shaver

Phillips Norelco 3100

Givenchy - August 28, 2018, 11:48 pm

I have a Phillips Shaver series 9000. I'm quite satisfied.

Eagle 95 - August 28, 2018, 11:58 pm

Have you considered using a safety razor and/or straight razor? The best shave is with a straight razor. The best cuts are also with a straight razor. ?

O.G. Gibson - August 29, 2018, 12:01 am

(Aug 28, 2018 11:58 PM)Eagle 95 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Have you considered using a safety razor and/or straight razor? The best shave is with a straight razor. The best cuts are also with a straight razor. ?
Ya I love my straight razor. The lazy way really isn't faster after a little practice with the straight razor

Armada - August 29, 2018, 12:01 am

I use a Mach 3....

Nice razor, and simple and effective

Vitani's Mate - August 29, 2018, 12:15 am

Haven't shaved in a little while so I have a beard.

I usually just use a razor to shave. I don't have any preferences.

Traum - August 29, 2018, 12:20 am

I have a Braun MGK 3020 and love it. I don't go for a clean shave though, I love the "2-3 days unshaved"-look.

Eagle 95 - August 29, 2018, 12:20 am

(Aug 29, 2018 12:01 AM)O.G. Gibson Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Ya I love my straight razor. The lazy way really isnt faster after a little practice with the straight razor

If you're in a hurry, straight razor is the worst possible tool lol. However, you can get pretty fast shaves with safety razor if you know what you're doing. I'm done within 5 minutes and I pass twice.

O.G. Gibson - August 29, 2018, 12:24 am

(Aug 29, 2018 12:20 AM)Eagle 95 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) If you're in a hurry, straight razor is the worst possible tool lol. However, you can get pretty fast shaves with safety razor if you know what you're doing. I'm done within 5 minutes and I pass twice.

Eh, ldk. I shave every day so ive gotten pretty good with it. Electric razors never give me a close enough cut and the 6 blade razors will give bumps after a few days straight of using them

Toasties - August 29, 2018, 12:57 am

I have that Phillips shaver. It's all right having used it in over a year. Letting my bush grow nuts.

PerfectStorm - August 29, 2018, 1:04 am

(Aug 28, 2018 10:08 PM)Rael Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What a question!

Hey there I'm a guy who usually doesnt have too much to shave I always use disposable razors, or go to the barber shop and get a deep clean cut.

Nowadays I feel like quality is really bad on the razors I'm getting (Third World Country)

So Im asking on advices to purchase an electric shaver under 100$ that can provide a clean deep cut I know for a fact that electric shavers are by no means a barber razor, barber razors are better. Im just looking for the lazy way.

So far I've stumbled upon 3 that has caught my attention:

Braun Series 3

Wahl 5 Star Shaver

Phillips Norelco 3100

Cheap razors do just fine for me. No need to complicate things imo.

Toasties - August 29, 2018, 1:08 am

I've heard dollar shave club is pretty good. Havnt tried duno

CyberStrike - August 29, 2018, 1:39 am

I really tend to get irritated on my neck with electric shavers now all that said I use disposables myself between business trips and looking presentable I gotta shave. Pretty much there are times that I almost feel like I need to shave two times in a day if say it's going to be one of those days. Like I have been shaving for a while and it used to be that disposables sucked, but in all truth they are fine and rather cheap. Replacement blades are expensive as hell you for an electric it's what 25 bucks for replacement heads, the razors are not much cheaper over a year it's expensive.. Harrys shave is also a decent price.

TheForgotten - August 29, 2018, 2:15 am

I shave once a week :)

Not hairy at all

Jerry Smith - August 29, 2018, 2:46 am

Yes I shave. I use gillette razors, have my whole life.

Trading - August 29, 2018, 2:55 am

Got one from gillet that i got for free
Still use that today

SIM-964740 - August 29, 2018, 3:18 am

If I'm in a rush I will use a Gillete disposable cartridge razor but if I have the time I will use my safety razor. I always fuck myself over if I try rushing with the safety razor.

Anzee - August 29, 2018, 3:21 am

Nope, I love my damn beard.

Toasties - August 29, 2018, 3:54 am

(Aug 29, 2018 03:21 AM)Anzee Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Nope, I love my damn beard.
Hell yeah for bearded men!

yrnGarry - August 29, 2018, 3:57 am

I like having my 5o clock shadow. As some users suggested though, use a straight razor.

Toasties - August 29, 2018, 3:59 am

(Aug 29, 2018 03:57 AM)yrnGarry Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I like having my 5o clock shadow. As some users suggested though, use a straight razor.
For a second I was like wtf is a fifty clock shadow

yrnGarry - August 29, 2018, 4:04 am

(Aug 29, 2018 03:59 AM)Toasties Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) For a second I was like wtf is a fifty clock shadow
Lmao, couldn't find the symbol. Using my work galaxy s8 forgot my phone at home today

Raz Riverblade - August 29, 2018, 4:24 am

My legs, my arms if I'm in japan, armpots obviously. Down below.

Yes, I shave

Banter. - August 29, 2018, 4:43 am

Not really myself I get mines done for me at a local barber shop there cheap and do an amazing job.

Pulz - August 29, 2018, 4:55 am

The only razor you will ever need is the Philips Oneblade. Comes with two razors that are advertised to last 4 months each (they are relatively cheap to buy, and mine is still sharp after 6 months.)
I've tried a variety of other razors and electric shavers, but that is the best I've come by.

I'd suggest checking out the online reviews- it only cost around £40 at the time I purchased it, though I have noticed that they've brought out "pro" versions I'm yet to try.

SIM-1349466 - August 29, 2018, 5:08 am

I get my hair cut once every 2 months. I trim my facial hair once a month. I shave my lower area once every 2 weeks.

Tr1Ck_ - August 29, 2018, 5:15 am

Nope.

Proud Neckbeard. \(Click to View\)

Riot - August 29, 2018, 5:16 am

Rarely. I don't have a job or attend school so I don't really have a reason to be clean shaven.

spradebassen - August 29, 2018, 5:40 am im growing my beard so havent shaved in a while i do one-use razors when i do though

Amilmetakrezolhol - August 29, 2018, 5:41 am

I usually just use a razor to shave

Moxxi - August 29, 2018, 5:42 am

(Aug 29, 2018 04:58 AM)James! Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Dollar Shave Club is the best option out there, in my opinion - I love them to bits.

I agree. Used to use Gillette but they are so fucking expensive, switched to DSC and its literally the same if not better for 1/3 the price

I N C R E D I B L E - August 29, 2018, 8:14 am

Razor shave all the way. Gillette is my preferred brand.

CyberStrike - August 29, 2018, 10:02 am

You know something really crazy but the wife's razors you know they really do a great job like one of those Venus ones that thing slides on your face and it's got a good size lubricating thing, it really works well slicker than mule snot too.

Rael - August 29, 2018, 3:48 pm

thanks for your guys opinions, yeah I have been hearing alot of the Dollar shave club, thing is Im not in the US and fees to send to my country are quite high, So I can't really join their program would need to buy something bulky from em one time only and I dont know if they do that, rather just buy an electric shaver, something that it is not extremely expensive and would last. or just a good pack of Straight razors.

Sir-Teabag - August 29, 2018, 4:01 pm

I just sold a 90 year old razor. The quality back then was superb compared to the shit we have now.

I don't really need to shave anyway. I've got like 3 hairs as a beard so I just pluck them lmaoo. my mustache is annoying though but if I shave it, it's itchy as fuck

Two-Ton 21 - August 29, 2018, 4:04 pm

Proglide razors offer a nice shave and they're fairly inexpensive. I shave every few days, razors & misc cost around $7 a month.

CocoPoff - August 31, 2018, 7:53 am

I thought you were talking about shaving pubes bc obviously if you're a guy you shave..

I don't really grow that much facial hair so for me a single blade razor works best.

Minnesota Nice - August 31, 2018, 9:16 am

I do not shave my beard down fully almost ever. I do use a multigroom 9000 series trimmer and when I do shave I either use a safety razor or a straight edge because those multiblade razors give me bad irritation.

Acteda - August 31, 2018, 9:47 am

Philips makes some pretty good stuff, check out amazon there are some affordable options.