Thread: Has anybody been considered e-whoring, but just can't do it?

jamboree1999 - August 31, 2018, 1:09 am

I've read about this in depth. It does seem like an easy way to make money, but damn, something about the whole thing is preventing me from actually getting everything set up.

I think that I could only really do this if I was working directly with a real girl who was aware of everything

Is anybody else in the same situation? Also, for people who did it and stopped, why did you stop

I released a free ebook - just look at my new thread! :)

I would feel unconformable after seeing all these dicks and acting like a girl.

Forget your morals, do you want to make money or not?

Far from easy, if you don't know where to get wealthy clients, you will just waste your time.

Lol i`m doing this for like 2 or 3 years. I don`t even see dicks anymore, i developed my own methods and techniques. Use your brain and your imagination. You don`t really need a real girl to make money. I`m using different methods and i can say that i earn pretty good money. Read a lot, see if this is for you, set up a bit and start chatting with some and from there you can say that u have a starting point.

Good luck.

The moral thing kicked into play. Like I would have to live with the fact that I was posing as big titty Jenna and talking to guys for $. At least with a real girl, we could market it in a whole different way, where she works with a manager or works for an agency or some shit.

I'm going to continue reading about this however.

I just started, even though I have not made any money yet... it's so funny, just seeing all the horny perverts, but idc I want money

I'm kinda in the same position as you. Tried it and i was successful at it but in order to make a lot of cash i need to completely change my sleep schedule because of timezone.

Once again, Galaxy gets to the heart of the matter.

Ewhoring is a job. And you aren't supposed to like a job. You're supposed to like the money from the job.

The dick pics are actually nothing after you get used to it.

ive never not had a day where i haven't made money...literally never. i think i've made around 45 a day at least since day 1

MOKA - September 1, 2018, 1:44 am

It's easy but needs a little effort and motivation dont be scared and do it

gei123 - September 2, 2018, 5:32 pm

There is no thing like i want to do it but i cant. If you want to do something then move your ass and dont wait. Made my first dollars before months. Actually for 3 months now i made about 5k-7k
