This is a small animated illustration that I made.

Done with Adobe Illustrator & Aftereffects. This could be treated as a feature icon, website art, and used on an app design.

Really nice, simplistic but pleasing to look at.

That's nice! I could watch that as I load a movie or login into a website.

Kay Dot - September 3, 2018, 2:35 pm

I really like that, it looks allot like a loading symbol haha

This would make for an awesome 404 error page. Really like your color choices, and the animations are really smooth. I'd like it more if the eyes looked in the opposite direction as well. Maybe have an asteroid or two flow behind the planet? Smaller and bigger stars to create a sense of depth.

I really like it, although the changing eye size feels kind of off. Great colour choice though and really smooth animations.

JoniHack - September 4, 2018, 8:02 am

It's simple and cute, but that's all :D

~HF~ - September 4, 2018, 8:21 am

Really like it tbh, quite simple but looks clean

This guy has the idea.

I like the design but the white background may need adjustment as well. Too bright at least from what i see. 9/10 ? love it

Oh damn, if you made that it's fucking amazing 10/10 great work.

Vossen - September 5, 2018, 9:08 pm

Please make it so that the eyes look in the other direction as well. This triggers my OCD. :( But other than that, both your choice of colors and the animation are fine af. Good work.

Motusora - September 5, 2018, 9:10 pm

my only suggestion is turn that little comets to white since it looks like water droplets . anyway good job mate .
