Thread: [\[Suggestion\] Rename the "Apple Mac and OS X" subforum](#)

HF staff,

As many of you know, Apple's OS X operating system was recently renamed MacOS. I propose that we change the title of the subforum to match the current name of Apple's desktop operating system. This would be a change that would only take a few minutes of your time, but would keep the title of the subforum accurate and up to date.

Current subforum name: Apple Mac and OS X

This can be seen on MacOS's Wikipedia page:

Would be an ideal change, hopefully it is updated, nice catch!

I pretty much agree with what others have said, even though it may be a dying section of the forum, no reason why it shouldn't be updated though.

Sure, change done. This is why Windows wins. Always been Windows, always will be Windows. Not sure why Mac has to change all their fucking branding constantly. Seems they learned at least with iPhone.
