(Nov 3, 2018 09:39 PM)DarkWebInsider Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'm reporting back on the progress of the mentorship to say that it has been a success. Due to some logistical issues between me, my manufacturer, and amazon, my product only went live a few weeks ago. Here is my earnings report from this past week though, today was especially crazy!

Huge vouch for mvmt, he guided me through this multi month long process and had my back the whole way. If you want to create passive income, FBA Is great and with mvmt walking you through the journey it is impossible to fail. Be prepared to spend a few months building a business/brand before you see success, though. This method is not for young/lazy/immature kids; if you put in the work, you will see results.

Probably one of the most profitable highly scalable e-comm business models is severely overlooked, which is Amazon FBA (fulfillment by Amazon). Most people are attracted to other models such as Shopify, affiliate marketing, etc. because of how mainstream they are - yet with Amazon growing exponentially every day, this is your chance to get into a massive market that is still in its early stages. For those who are unfamiliar with what Amazon FBA is, you are purchasing products from wholesalers and sending them to Amazon's warehouses. Your items are then listed on Amazon for anyone to buy, and anytime you get a sale Amazon will automatically ship the products for you and cover shipping for free as well as handle all customer support. You simply pay fees for each sale you get and the profit is yours.

By taking part in this mentorship, you will be learning step-by-step how to start your own e-commerce business on the largest online marketplace in the world. The scaling opportunities are limitless, it is not uncommon to see sellers doing a cool 6-7 figures PER MONTH just from selling products on Amazon. The best thing about selling on Amazon is that it does not require any particular skills or previous experience, just about anyone with an internet connection can turn their Amazon business into a multi-million dollar revenue stream.

With almost 2 years of combined experience, we've acquired enough knowledge in just about every aspect of this business model to lead you in the right direction and minimize your chances of failure. To give you an idea of how fast you can see returns, one of the products we sold together finished our first 30 days of sales with over $12K in revenue. That's just from 1 product, in the very first month. By having access to 2 teachers means you will have someone there for you around the clock, 24 hrs a day 7 days a week. You will also have access to our private student group where you can help and get help from the other students. In the future, we will have our own online platform where all students can access loads of premium content, daily tips and tricks, and much much more. Below will be a summary of each mentorship option we offer, we want to be able to help everyone no matter what their budget is.

Option 1 - $300:

The amount of knowledge you will receive greatly outweighs the price, considering this is something that could start a lifelong career for you. We want people who are serious about creating a steady source of income for themselves, someone who isn't lazy and is ready to take a big step towards having their own e-commerce business.

FAQ

Spoiler (Click to View)

Can this be done worldwide?

Yes. You aren't actually touching any of the products. No matter where you're from, you'll be shipping directly to Amazon's warehouses in the US.

How much can I make from this and how long?

The way our system works, we only look at products that are selling at minimum $5,000 revenue per month. It is not uncommon to see products doing anywhere from $20k - $100k+ per month, the scaling opportunities are limitless. Our mentorship lasts for a total of 2 months, first month will involve learning the basics and finding your first product to sell. The second month will consist of getting your product ranked, increasing sales, getting reviews, etc.

How much money do I need to start with?

I recommend around $500-$800. This will cover your inventory, the various investments for listing optimization, and the other tools needed.

Minus9 - September 2, 2018, 3:42 pm

You will be mentored closely by both mvmt and myself - we'll be teaching you to build the brand and release your first product. There's sadly a lot of people who send me so many products that are just great in revenue, but terrible to sell for multiple reasons due to competition, quality etc. There's multiple factors to this and we'll be closely helping you choose your product and assisting you with building your first and actual business.

We also are focusing on motivating and inspiring our students and changing your mindset for the better. The entrepreneurial mindset. You'll have days where you might want to give up, you'll have days where you're thrilled. It can be a real roller-coaster but the reward and the risk is greater than the fear.

Looking forward to mentoring all my students and assisting them on their journey.

I've sent you a PM.

But to answer this question, we cannot make any guarantees with this mentorship. We are not teaching you a simple money making method, this is a business, meaning it is solely up to the user to make the most out of the information we're providing.

Is earning back your investment within 2 months realistic? Very. Will we guarantee it? No. The payment we are receiving is for all the information we're providing and the amount of time we'll spend with you teaching you everything. Assuming you don't give up and actually put time into doing what we teach you, then earning back your money plus much more shouldn't be a problem within that 2 month timeframe. But we aren't trying to put ourselves in a position where we provide everything and then have the user demand a refund after 2 months because they were too lazy to actually work on what was taught.

Already in touch with you but I'll answer these questions publicly so everyone will know:

1. Me and my partner are on different timezones making us available pretty much 24/7, not only that but you will be put in our group with other students so you will never be alone throughout the entire process.

2. I recommend starting with $700-$1,000 for your initial batch of inventory. This is the minimum, you could spend much more if you wanted which will allow you to get into a market with much higher revenue and profits.

Because the most time consuming part was the product research and it didn't make sense for us to do the research for somebody else who is going to make much more than that, we'd rather sell it ourselves.

So now we assist with product research but only on how to do it and confirming whether it's a good or bad product, not doing it for you.

Greetings,

Always was interested in e-commerce. So maybe down the line, once I have the necessary budget - I will be joining you guys.

But from what I've seen, this looks insane. I was just wondering since you've had quite a few students under your mentorship. How are they faring in their business would be good to know? I've seen that one person with $17K in sales. That's just highly inspirational and makes me motivated to grind harder and work harder to join you guys to earn $ like that.

So I wish you continued luck in sales and in finding capable new students and brushing them up to be capable e-commerce entrepreneurs.

We're glad to hear that you find inspiration from us, we've had several people in our group who has had success one of them being our student with $17k in sales. I've noticed one thing during this mentorship and it's that most of those individuals don't go through with it. Matter of fact, we've never had a failing student yet due to the fact that a lot of them have not taken action. They get frustrated at the research process and give up and want to do something else.

In some cases, that's understandable. Whether it's the budget or if they're thinking for their future/responsibilities. We're currently mentoring few now that hopefully will take action and risk some funds to reach some kind of success, obviously success is not guaranteed as it's merely mentoring and teaching them how to approach situations which assists them to avoid mistakes and increase the chances of succeeding.

I understand that you don't have the necessary budget and that's completely understandable, we have a group accessible for everyone including our students completely for free if you'd like to discuss business opportunities, need help and generally socialize with like-minded individuals on a road on their eCommerce journey, mainly Amazon and also Dropshipping for those who usually try to save up some funds for their Amazon business.

If you'd like to join that group for free, send me and MVMT a message and we'll gladly welcome you to our group!

I am available for a free consultation. If you cannot afford this mentorship but still want to communicate and learn from a very valuable group for FREE, contact either of us and get invited to our chat/group where we all are involved in each our own journey.

mvmt - October 28, 2018, 4:43 pm

If you are unfamiliar with what we mean by "consultation," basically we'll help you decide if this business model is right for you or not based on the questions that we'll ask you. It's a great way to gauge whether or not you'll have the time/funds/etc. to run a business like this.

mvmt - October 30, 2018, 8:35 am

Now is still the perfect time to get into Amazon FBA because of the massive holiday rush coming up. We have Black Friday, Cyber Monday, then holiday season sales which usually last all the way until end of January!

mvmt - November 1, 2018, 7:56 am

We currently still have room for new students ?

mvmt - November 2, 2018, 11:30 am

I should have another student posting their earnings very soon :) stay tuned.

mvmt - November 3, 2018, 7:35 pm

Contact me or Minus9 if you have any questions regarding this program :)

DarkWebInsider - November 3, 2018, 9:39 pm

I'm reporting back on the progress of the mentorship to say that it has been a success. Due to some logistical issues between me, my manufacturer, and amazon, my product only went live a few weeks ago. Here is my earnings report from this past week though, today was especially crazy!

Huge vouch for mvmt, he guided me through this multi month long process and had my back the whole way. If you want to create passive income, FBA Is great and with mvmt walking you through the journey it is impossible to fail. Be prepared to spend a few months building a business/brand before you see success, though. This method is not for young/lazy/immature kids; if you put in the work, you will see results.

Thinking of buying this product spoke to the seller who was quick to answer questions and very helpful genoh - November 4, 2018, 10:19 am

Apologies if this has already been covered but how much do most people average before they start to see success. Even with the basic plan at $300, I assume it takes at least $200-$500(?) to really setup shop assuming you have no web dev, or social media skills?

If there is a free group (as mentioned above) I'd be interested in joining to kind of see what's up.

Last question: Do content writing skills have any benefit in this business model. i.e. making content on social media/ blogs to push to the Amazon Store for sales?

Thanks for your time :)

1. You don't need any web developing nor social media skills. You'll be selling on Amazon's platform. We recommend at least $800-1200. If you have more, that's better. Gives you better opportunities/chances.

2. Content writing skills can work great if you have traffic/someone reading what you're writing. When selling on Amazon, it's crucial with great photos and copywriting. Whether you decide to do the writing yourself or hire a professional, that's entirely up to you.

3. I have sent you an invite to the group.

Popping back into the thread to just comment again on how undervalued this mentorship is. You will learn everything that you need to start a internet company in this class. The course is worth it alone for the $6000 videos that you receive, but the real goldmine is access to quality mentors. So, what are you waiting for? start making a passive income now with FBA :)

Now this content you speak and the hours of video that walk me thru everything. Is this 100% created by your team or is this ripped info? If I am paying $800 I would definitely be expecting custom videos from the two of you, not some ripped course off Udemy (warez disallowed).

This is exactly what I need for my finances and to assist my family. I don't quite have any of the funds to purchase any options, but hopefully when or if I do, you'll have the service still open.

9-5 hourly wage just doesn't cut it anymore in this growing contemporary society.

I'm mostly looking at Option 3 but will definitely need to conjure up the funds first.

Unfortunately I will likely have to close this mentorship in Q1 of next year. Recently there has been an increased interest in my mentorship which keeps me pretty busy, plus next year I plan on doing some major scaling to my own e-comm business so I will most likely discontinue my mentorship.

I will continue accepting new students up until the end of January (the 31st). From then, my mentorship will be closed indefinitely.

Also in order to pay you for the service I'd need time to accumulate some money, not hard but I don't have a job either and I'd reconsider if the prices are raised. Gonna have to buss a pack if yamsayn.

My price is based upon the value of my service and the amount of time it takes me to spend mentoring you through everything step by step. I'm charging pennies compared to what a successful Amazon business will be making you, my student's results speak for themselves.

Been working with MVMT has been well

As you can see the 15 day and 30 day are barely different, that's because I got my products in the 24th of December!

The past 6 days I have not had under a $100/day and selling

MVMT has been a great help with the questions I've had and has provided some amazing resources for me.

I'd like to think I already know about marketing/advertising and promoting online already since I used to do some social media marketing so I would say that has helped, but honestly it isn't too hard.

This is just my first batch and in 15 days I have $1100 In sales! This batch I'm mostly breaking even but with MVMT's help I'm already extremely high up for my main keywords. Now that he is helping me optimize my ads I'm sure I will see more sales and better numbers in the near future.

No, out of the 6-7 million sellers on Amazon there is bound to be some bad experiences shared online. This is the same for literally any business you will ever get into. If a few bad articles scare you away, then you're never going to have the confidence/willpower to start any kind of business.

Around 2 years ago use to resell used CD's in bulk using FBA. Made around 2k a month in sales. If you put the work in, definitely a worthwhile investment if you have the right products to sell.

my craziest day so far, almost broke $1000 today but I ran out of units, my new units can't come any faster!

I have no idea what changed about today really, but it exploded today was slow in the morning and than boom was just getting order after order.

EDIT:

Spoke too soon, I was confused as why I was 2 units short thought maybe Amz lost them, but I was wrong, they were bought and just took awhile to update. Hit over $1000 today!! this is insane.

Final edit:

Sadly had to close my listing since I ran out of units, but my Best Seller Rank hit #1984 in my category from yesterday. I hope I can get back up to that once the new units are in! ?

I'm not selling you a course, I'm not just gonna provide a bunch of videos telling you what to do and give you minor support. What I'm offering is a direct one-on-one mentorship, something you likely won't be able to find anywhere else. I'm literally going to walk you through everything step by step from start to finish and make sure you are doing it all correctly.

Doesn't matter if the courses are priced lower than my mentorship. The price you pay is corresponding to the value you get. There aren't many active sellers on Amazon who are gonna take the time to personally teach you everything they know. They could care less about whether you succeed or not, they just wanna sell more of their course. Not a single one of my students have failed so the value speaks for itself and my price is justified.

Also not true, the content I provide for my $300 package is a cumulation of over $6,000 worth of content that I have. It doesn't even compare to the normal courses on the market, which are pretty shitty btw.

How much of that revenue that 1 day was pure profit after cost of product/shipping/amazon fees? Curious.

I'm not going into detail but that was my first shipment of 500 units was quite pricey because of it being the first shipment, so very little since that was the last of my first batch, have new units coming in and processing now and a lot more coming in a week or so.

Anyways, right now the profit is/was low, however this new batch is much higher. After calculating potential lowest price per unit for me to buy/ship estimates at the current price of the item on amazon the max profit % is around 38%, but if I one day out beat my competitors I would like to raise the median price $1-$3 bringing the max profit % around 41%-47%

That is of course if I consistently sell many units I could get it that high. On this new batch coming in I'm happy with the profit I will be getting off of it compared to the first batch lol.

Any students earnings since the beginning of the year? What % of your students are "successful" (I'm going to define the word successful in this case as = $50K/yr) under your mentorship?

Why is mentoring (for 2 months?) so cheap when people are selling around 10hours of content (videos?) for about 4x the price?

mvmt - February 20, 2019, 6:35 pm

(Feb 20, 2019 07:06 PM)JohnBarr Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Any students earnings since the beginning of the year? What % of your students are "successful" (I'm going to define the word successful in this case as = $50K/yr) under your mentorship?

Yes there have been several since the beginning of the year. So far, every student of mine that has launched their product has been "successful." My definition of successful is not based on a particular $ amount per year because each product has a relative difference of "success." In my opinion, a successful product is a product that will sell enough to make your money back within a reasonable amount of time and continue to sell consistently for a nice income.

Based on my definition, every student of mine that has gone through the entire product launch process has been successful (as seen in the earnings posted on my thread). The reason my success rate can be this high is due to the product research process that I teach my students. There are several things that are analyzed before launching a product such as: product revenue, overall market competition, product differentiability, etc. With all of these aspects combined, it makes it fairly easy to tell whether a product has a good chance of being successful or not.

And in response to your second question, anyone that would pay thousands of dollars just for 10 hours of video content is an idiot. I'm not charging anywhere near that much, and I'm basically holding your hand every step of the way and personally teaching you each aspect of this business. There is no where else you can find this kind of value. Some may consider my prices "cheap" and well you may be right, but I try to keep my price both affordable for people on HF as well as worth my time and the value of the content I'm providing.

1: After paying you, how much money we need to start selling (i mean how much spare money we have to start)

2: We need to buy the products from A. B. C place and then to be sold on Amazon or it will be like dropshipping?

3: I am from Pakistan and will this work for me?

4: Any special skills or requirements we need to start this (I never ever tried Amazon FBA).

5: As i saw your students post there earning proof in products selling so what is a profit margin, (one guy posted screenshot of "today sale $1008" so how much is his profit from $1008)?

I've contacted you personally but I'll answer these questions for everyone else to see.

1. I recommend starting with $800-$1k for investment

2. You will be purchasing inventory from manufacturers and shipping directly to Amazon's FBA facilities

3. Yes, FBA is available for pretty much all countries

4. Nope, in fact most of my students start with literally 0 experience

5. Profit margins will depend on the product but we usually look for products within the 35-50%+ range
