The problem has been dealt with.

Zack Fair - September 3, 2018, 6:08 pm

Can send all necessary screenshots if needed.

Not "can" more like you should or else nobody is going to believe you.

Riyu - September 3, 2018, 6:09 pm

Codes worked when I sent them

I buy them and resell some.

I told you to redeem them asap, instead you resold to some random guy that could be lying.

Never had an issue, ever.

so byeE

Where is your contract? Currency exchanges without a contract are a no-no. ?

Added all I needed too.

A random guy that I have done $5k in exchanges and you're the only issue. Pay your dews and dont get yourself banned. Everyone will see how sketchy this whole deal was. I helped you out one time and I get scammed by it and I hope that people will see through your lies as you think whatever you're will get you away with. New sheriff in town, look forward to seeing the money in my wallet.

He said he sent a contract and I had sent it as soon as i had seen that and then riyu sent me his btc addy on skype and i sent it. i then realised he did not actually send it which is sketchy af in my eyes.

So where's the proof the codes didn't work besides you/your buyers word?

How do you know the buyer didn't redeem them and say he didn't? Because you've known him for 9 months, and that makes Riyu a scammer?

I ask EVERYONE to redeem the codes right away to avoid this exact problem lmao. An hour later you tell me that the codes didn't work, how can I actually verify what you're saying is true?

I buy hundreds of codes per day lmao. I don't need to "steal" your $80.

I'm not giving you shit because when the codes left MY hands, they were working and I checked both of them.

I have never had an issue with him before saying the codes are not working. Suddenly $120 in codes didnt work? Ive traded $1000's with him. Just because Riyu has been here a while does not mean he will take advantage of ppl. I did him a favour and he backstabs me. This deal was sketchy from the git go and you can see in the screenshots mate.

- 1) No contract sent out by his bus boy.
- 2) His bus boy saying to use the codes straight away
- 3) Both of them doing a deal so Riyu can pinpoint blame?
- 4) Him saying $80 is nothing when he wont refund after his codes dont work.
- 5) How does he check the codes before he sends them?

Everything does not seem right to me and its that simple and its not pointing to my supplier and everything points to him. It's very simple.

I've sold PSN to Riyu in the past. He resells them. I've never had an issue, and I don't seem him scamming for 80$ and losing all his credibility. Go ahead and tell me how that adds up.

1. That has nothing to do with me. I even said, you can either just send to me or deal with him using contracts.
2. Because I try to avoid this type of issue.
3. ?
4. $80 is nothing when I buy hundreds of codes per day but you have yet to show me ANY proof of the codes not working after I sent them?
5. You can't be serious? You type the code into the PSN site and it tells you if the code is still active and the balance on the code.

- check the code and tell me if it works or not then

Show me chat logs with your buyer.

Stooshy - September 3, 2018, 6:35 pm

Riyu has payed me in full back for the codes. I think it should stay open as he feel it may have been FiftyTwo.

Vitani - September 5, 2018, 1:52 am

I just want to add to this that ALL currency exchange deals on HF have to be done using contracts.

Members have had their accounts closed for not doing so.
