I can vouch for this! This is the best android rat I ever had!

Nadisty - September 4, 2018, 9:57 am

Nice thread design, nice website but.

I see some spelling mistakes.

Creative solutions that work on all platforms.

We have created an awesome android rat (android remote administration tool) that will help IT experts, amateurs, and companies managing android devices quickly and easily.

Dotexe - September 4, 2018, 10:27 am

The website looks sick man, as well as the rat, good luck with this project when adding an apk out of google play, the phone requires "unkown sources" to be disabled.

Is there a way around this? Can you code your apk in such way it will disable the 'unkown sources' itself?

If so, Im willing to pay up to 20x more than what you want for this android rat.

I bought omnirat a month ago, you have activated the account regularly but the rat that is installed on the victim generated a code too long that was not good, I tried to install it on 7 phones of different brands always with the same result, in the end paypal he gave me the right and refunded the money. HAVE YOU RESOLVED THE BUG OF THE CODE? if you look at my posts I've talked about it several times.

I downloaded your apk installed on the smarphone and generates the following code

14ecc26d3a7ee48ccbd0632c8d36de4a

as you can see and long, a code suitable for the android command must be so

399M5FXRmH2ejGpUJhyKtA

so nothing has changed but the bug still exists to remove the post with the sale of omnirat because it does not work, do not waste time on people who believe they buy it and then it does not work.

show me the opposite now thank you

Probably you do not have the latest DeviceID app. I just checked again and it definitely generates a short ID.

Download it again at www.omnirat.eu/DeviceID.apk

Also what do you mean with the "code must be suitable for the android command"? The way OmniRAT generates the ID is there decision, it has only to do with the licensing. So stop spreading false rumours because you are too dumb to understand shit.

Hi i just purchase omnirat Android server Android client and I can't see any button or menu to build a client

Hay new problem i just delete the controller from my phone now when I try to reinstall it I can't and tells me that
"App not installed"

ShMartiLiveMsX - October 5, 2018, 3:39 am do you have to port forward this? and is it FUD?

simone91 - October 7, 2018, 2:38 am the stub is undetected? ????????

hackfoums - October 7, 2018, 3:57 am
You have to portforward like any other rat and the client is unfortunately not FUD

You have unnecessarily pointed out that Remote Administration Tool is not FUD. Nobody can expect a RAT to be FUD, there are crypters for that. You can save your unnecessary posts in the future.

I have few questions if someone could answer them please,

- 1- Can you enable/disable GPS?
- 2- Can you enable offline voice recording or set the recording for more than 20 minutes?
- 3- Can you view the notifications even if the device is locked?
- 4- Is the keylogger active even if the connection is offline?
- 5- Is the connection stable or you are losing your clients sometimes?

Does this work on much older versions of android such as 4.4.2? Also does the keylogger continue to fill up the other phone? Or can it be deleted remotely?

Yes it does work on actually all versions, however older android versions give less features to rat. The app can be deleted (when found from the client in the settings). However it can also be made uninstalleable by turning it on as device admin.

(Oct 25, 2018 07:50 PM)Thesilence123 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Do you need access to the physical phone to install?

Not necessarily. It can also be installed remotely if the client downloads and installs the app.

I had that a few times, when I tried to connect from some VPNs. Make sure you can reach omnirat.eu then it will work.

Specializer - October 27, 2018, 2:56 pm

Purchased this 2-3 years ago directly from Omni for around $75, worked great back then. Now i cant use it even though it was 'life time' because he doesnt want to do anything unless he gets the ID which is 2 lines of random numbers and i cant access anymore because i wasnt told to save it. All round great product but its a shame that users from years ago cant use it without the ID.

So where is the problem? You need some proof and the ID is one. If he does not have any records from you then a paypal screenshot isn't helpful aswell.

Answer me this 1 important question, and Ill want to buy this:

1) If you have installed rat onto friends PC, how do you go from PC to android? The two are far apart. Unless you can get their web traffic to detect mobile device on the network, and auto redirect to a page that requires downloading an apk. But there's no program for this. Is there any available ways?
