Thread: Scammed for FN Galaxy Skin uid=3957963

OctoberzVeryOwn - September 4, 2018, 2:31 pm

Paid $50 for this guy to get me the galaxy skin from his "phone". User said he did it but then the respected user "Eddie" messaged him and offered to sell to him to which then gave it away it was a scam. I was then put on the ignore list. User is a multi. Just wanted to post this to warn others it's only $50 at least.

Txid from today:

Invalid dispute since there is no valid contract

You can go to his thread and clearly see. Check my txid and see I paid earlier today. I'm on his ignore list too. It's not invalid. I wasn't entering a contract until the deal went through. Hope you get scammed. I'm just looking out for others here. Go to his trustscan and past threads.

You act like it's my rule. Check Omni's sticky in this section. He clearly states all deal disputes without a contract are invalid. Im not saying you didnt get scammed, I'm just saying that Omni already decided that members that don't use the system in place can't complain about getting scammed.

Also what's the point of waiting to enter a contract after the deal is over

I could care less about getting scammed for $50. I just posted this for other users that might fall for the trap. Years ago this loss would've killed me and to others it might. So it boosts your market profile...

You made a deal dispute and guess what? It's going to get closed.

If you would have made a contract, the user in question would of been banned for being a scammer..

Congratulations you played yourself.

Like I said I don't care about the money. It's literally only $50. I just made this to make others aware. He'll be banned eventually bc of being a multi

Vitani - September 5, 2018, 1:55 am

This is an invalid deal dispute, as no contract link has been added to the OP. Thread closed.

And yet you sent him your money. NEVER send any funds to anyone before a contract is active.
