Thread: Best URL Shortener?

Bluffer - September 4, 2018, 3:25 pm

I've been using goo.gl for awhile but it's shutting down next year and right now it's not letting me make any new links. I need these to keep track of clicks from where.

So what is the best URL shortener obviously other than goo.gl?

More importantly, what is one that HF Marketplace sellers use?

There are many and apart from bit. . LY and Goo . GL itself. I would say, there are so many filled with ads.

in my opinion. you should buy the link shortening script and host it yourself.

Are goo.gl and bit.ly [WARNING: potentially infected] blocked from hackforums?

Where can I buy the link shortening script?

You can always make your own. It will cost you a few bucks per year and that's it.

Yep, making your own is a good choice.
