

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Shoe Flipping?

SIM-3051398 - September 8, 2018, 2:19 pm

Whats the profit margins for this?

Ex, say I buy the new yeezy drop for cart value. How much can I resell for to make profits?

Never done this before wondering if its worth it.

gringo - September 8, 2018, 8:59 pm

Keep an eye on StockX market trends, you'll be able to instantly sell your shoes there.

The creams aren't worth it because they'll more than likely drop to retail+tax because of the insane amount of stock projected to release but the 700's might be a good flip but they retail for $300, worse comes to worse you'll make your money back. I've made $17,000 this year so far flipping hyped releases so hit me up if you ever want to talk.

Tyrannus - September 8, 2018, 9:05 pm

Thanks to StockX, the sneaker resell market is on an increasing decline. Don't bother with yeezys anymore because the most recent 350s are selling for $25 over retail. Keep an eye on the new OffWhite X Nike collabs releasing soon, those will be valuable.

SIM-3051398 - September 8, 2018, 9:58 pm

(Sep 8, 2018 09:05 PM)Skarah Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Thanks to StockX, the sneaker resell market is on an increasing decline. Don't bother with yeezys anymore because the most recent 350s are selling for $25 over retail. Keep an eye on the new OffWhite X Nike collabs releasing soon, those will be valuable.

I've noticed for a while now Yeezys arnt as big as they used to be. How about supreme / bape? I know a bit about this stuff but I've never actually bought anything on release. Wondering what brands are worth the most currently (not cost the most, but more like what will make me the most when it comes to reselling).