I've read about other users experiencing this, but haven't experienced it myself. However, I have noticed random lengthy load times

You could have something tripping the captcha system like proxy, dynamic ip, plugins. It could also be Omni trying to help the AIs out; AI's aren't going to learn by themself! ?

Hmmm. How often are you refreshing the page? If you're constantly refreshing the same content it could trip it. I guess we'll see what the big guy says about this.

are you on a shared connection?

Bluffer - September 9, 2018, 9:29 pm

There's one other forum (of similar nature that starts with N) that is much much worse. The captcha is literally on every single page.

HF I think varies it depending on country, maybe it's your VPN?

captcha captcha capthca

after replying to post again captcha and then :-

here has been an error due to your post data being empty. Possible cause is a browser page refresh or direct access to this page. We recommend you press your browser back button and begin again.

Two-Ton 21 - September 9, 2018, 9:32 pm

What browser are you using? The problem is on your end... Any weird extensions enabled? Clear your cache.

Are you in one of the major countries? Like US, UK Canada Australia?

Or are you in like Russia/China?

PerfectStorm - September 9, 2018, 9:35 pm

I only get them once in a while fortunately.

yeh men its so scary , lets see what omni has to say about this issue edit :- just changed my connection , and now recaptches are less frequent (but Same isp just diff connection)

Omniscient - September 9, 2018, 10:17 pm

It's because of your country.
