

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Users browsing this forum:

SIM-3257834 - September 12, 2018, 7:47 pm

What Happened to it? It was there this morning and now it's gone! I can't stalk people anymore.

Gt403cyl - September 12, 2018, 7:58 pm

I noticed this too, probably because of the whole new privacy laws deal...

Originalkillit - September 12, 2018, 8:14 pm

I also noticed that and I think its ? ?

Condoms - September 12, 2018, 8:52 pm

I can still stalk you if I goto your profile. ;)

N1ghtm4re - September 12, 2018, 9:16 pm

These kind of changes suck because it makes me feel less of an active vibe when browsing the forum, but well, the forum is evolving so why not?

We'll adapt.

Omniscient - September 13, 2018, 2:04 pm

I disabled it. Main reason was because it created too much scroll for mobile.

Pyro - September 13, 2018, 2:11 pm

(Sep 13, 2018 02:04 PM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I disabled it. Main reason was because it created too much scroll for mobile.

is there an option to add it for PC users and remove it for mobile users ? I'm really sorry if this question might sound dumb, but i don't really know how coding and stuff works

Bluffer - September 13, 2018, 4:50 pm

That's unfortunate that it had to be removed. I thought there would be a way to only show it to desktop users though?

Super - September 13, 2018, 7:40 pm

(Sep 13, 2018 02:04 PM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I disabled it. Main reason was because it created too much scroll for mobile.

Can you add a media query in your CSS so desktop and tablet users still get it? IMO it was nice feature.

iNviZ - September 13, 2018, 9:25 pm

Honestly I like it disabled with the new mobile theme.

Omniscient - September 13, 2018, 11:48 pm

(Sep 13, 2018 07:40 PM)Dynamo Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Can you add a media query in your CSS so desktop and tablet users still get it? IMO it was nice feature.

Sorry, but no. I think for now we just don't need the feature enough to warrant making the adjustment. I do know that the list was abused to PM spam and to even scam sometimes.

