Oh fuck. Nevermind I though my boy was doing some hardcore parkour shit climbing around to get to the roof. No fun when you have the keys to it :(

Where I'm at I love to explore things and a lot of it usually ends up getting on some random roofs and there is amazing views Great view! I love cities at night.

Vossen - September 13, 2018, 8:39 pm

Looks dope.

Still, the drop from my office window would be one second longer. ͡_?(?)_͡

Gt403cyl - September 13, 2018, 9:20 pm

My question is how do you know it's a 6 second drop?

At 0:18 seconds is the scariest part imo lol. And the part at 1:03 I've done it but it was no were near as high as that lol

I don't like to fuck around to much when i'm high sketch as fuck. I just enjoy getting to the top (and it's really fairly safe) and looking at the view. Besides that fuck the spooky shit I don't wanna die haha

Guap - September 13, 2018, 9:52 pm

Cities skylines are their own type of beautiful. I have seen a lot of skylines of major US cities from up high, it's a great site. IMO nothing beats a tropical view though!

$$s = ut + (1/2)at^2$$

Where,

s = distance(m) t = time(sec)

a = acceleration(9.81)

u = initial speed (0)

I hope this answered your question.

Assuming acceleration is constant.

Soulmate~?? - September 14, 2018, 1:57 pm

I've only been to Toronto once in the past 10 years even though I live fairly close. Still a really nice city IMO but some people that live there make it insufferable.

I can get on my roof through a window in the ceiling in our staircase. I don't even need keys.

As I sit here rebuilding my new backpack, which does include ghost keys, I dont REALLY need the keys, I can bypass locks no problems as it stands, keys just make life easier. ?
