I got inside sources that says he was cashing out on a $200 sub bot and is the multi/ban evader, twitch heaven scammer. More info soon.

Fuck em.

My bot will be discounted to all, and possibly even more to twitch helper customers.

did his user title always say (new member) or did he do that when he changed his name to try to trick people

Fissan - September 19, 2018, 7:53 pm

Very sad. Sorry for everyone who dealt with that scumbag.

His user title said twitchhelper.com I'm pretty sure.

UPS got sued by twitch for being high key about it arabbs - September 20, 2018, 5:29 am i just paid 60$ and software has been stopped and their site are down

Havox - September 20, 2018, 12:29 pm

I lost $200 :(but I didn't really think of it that much but it's just really hard tryna find a sub bot. If any if you know someone that can make one or have one I'll pay for it.

Those are for view bots, none of them talk about sub bot or TwitchBoost - UPS/TheHouse's at the time site for selling accounts, subs, etc for a short time.

There was an Reddit about it from a Twitch Developer about UPS and his subbot. Actually it could be that the same shit happened to TwitchHaven aka TwitchHelper

Do you have a link? In your saves/history? Quick 5 minute search I tried a couple keywords and didn't find it.

Those court cases began in 2016 and finished in early 2018 for StreamBoosters (and their other websites) Twitch view botting services, the cases were started and closed before UPS even showed up. I heard rumors of UPS getting sued, but no proof of it, most likely he's rus/xna/twitch heaven/twitch helper since they all follow the same scheme and both had automated Discords from the looks of it. Looks like I was right from the beginning when he was still doing his second exit scam.

If you see someone giving away free shit, then selling it for cheap and offering lifetimes, then know that the lifetime will probably last a month or two since it's not a valid business scheme in the long term. He or someone else will take his place and do it again, it's just too easy money since all the kids are jumping on the train to make money off manually reselling their "Twitch services".

True, I would assume he'd change his name if it was him though.

Nadroj147 - November 27, 2018, 11:22 am yeah i got scammed by thelper back in the day lol.... lost the 200$ and money from proxies on him thought we were friends... in market for new bot now.

Nadroj147 - November 29, 2018, 2:24 pm

can i have sub bot bro i got scammed! plz
