Hello bro

When I said that I am not going first and credited my brating for my trust, he did not trade with me. It is obvious he was waiting for a new user to scam them. Hopefully you used a contract so he can be banned. Go ahead and open a dispute on him.

I PM'ed him twice and he didn't respond, guessing he didn't like the sound of going first. Luck you got you money back!

Earn - September 23, 2018, 5:37 am

For 1, the payment he sent was instantly on pending, therefore I wanted to wait until the payment was actually completed before sending the BTC, but within 2 minutes (no joke) the user had already charged back. How else do you explain him getting his money back within half an hour of the transaction being sent? If I had sent the payment, he was just going to do the exact same thing. I have repeatedly tried to sort it out but all he keeps saying is "stfu your account is getting closed". He also keeps telling me to send him his mo Ye back on PayPal, yet on this thread he states he's already gotten it back. He is obviously trying to double dip.

To everyone that exchanges, would you send your BTC to someone when the payment is still on pending? The answer is no. You would be dumb as fuck if you did.

If needed, I can provide screenshots of everything. Just HMU.
