Contract - <https://hackforums.net/contracts.php?action=view&cid=10072>

This user is clearly a scammer. What happened was i sent the money friends/family. $110 for $100 BTC. I noticed i didn't do one of the steps, he told me which was to say it's virtual goods. I clearly told him my bad & too refund the money, and then asks me for BTC wallet.

Proof:

<https://gyazo.com/ad71718f8398a51f3f947acc962a4a79> - (Shows the contract, must be virtual item which was my mistake i told him about it and he still didn't refund.)

<https://gyazo.com/1e001282502e8e87a8b01152b2827c34> - (Conversation)

<https://gyazo.com/20175080349f30b2022ef41d54234c98> - (More conversation but this time as you can see i stopped replying for a minute and he said do i still want to do the transaction..)

<https://gyazo.com/17bb9c1f1fcf1c67ab7330b1e0859f54> - (THE MAIN PART!)

He goes on to say that he didn't receive the payment because it was pending but he never told me that directly and also, he did receive it instantly. Proof:

<https://gyazo.com/8597fceb631ed9c084dcfcfb060dd28e>

I then had to file for a dispute because he wasn't replying for about 1 hour:

Earn - September 23, 2018, 6:28 am

The payment was stuck on pending & 2 minutes later I got a charge back. He instantly received the money back, as he stated on my thread. I was not willing to send the BTC until the payment was complete. The payment was never completed therefore no deal has even taken place. This user just wanted me to think the payment was complete so I would send the BTC & then he could charge back. As soon as I wanted to wait for it to be completed, he charges back & wasn't willing to cooperate with me at all. I will post screenshots when I am on my computer tomorrow.

Good. OP should add to the post.

Junx - September 23, 2018, 6:30 am

OP if you sent money and it's pending then you should wait. (You sending from a credit card could be why) But Earn should be more responsive when dealing too. I don't think he was trying to scam, just a lack of communication.

The payment wasn't stuck on pending & how was it 2 minutes later?
<https://gyazo.com/ebd941c8dbbd53221f73e7aaacacf678> (From 11:56 to 13:09 he was all of sudden doing something for hes mum)

He also states the payment is pending but he just said 'The payment was stuck on pending & 2 minutes later I got a charge back.'

I didn't charge him back till about 1 hour after.

Finally, he says the payment was stuck on pending then hes balance went negative. Why would it go negative.. oh because he already spent it..

Lol you're not making sense. I paid from a debit card not credit card so money will be on hes end instantly. There is no lack of communication he clearly tried to scam me. Where is my money then LOL.

Don't say I don't know what I'm talking about when a second ago you didn't know payments could go to pending. His account could be a new one which would lead the money to be pending. But as I said, who knows, Earn could have been scamming.

You seem to have a tiny brain. Let me type it again. His payment could be pending. You want to know why it could be pending? Because I said so. I'm an Alpha and you are a beta.

Finally, someone with some common sense. He charged back when I wanted to wait until it was complete & the money instantly went back to him. What would've happened if I sent the BTC straight away & he decided to charge back? I would be fucked. You can also refer to the first page of my exchange thread where he posted that he already has the money back, but now he keeps requesting I send the BTC on Discord. He is the one trying to scam me, not the other way around. I just didn't fall for it & now he is trying to make me out as the scammer. Pathetic, really.

Sounds like you both had a misunderstanding. I suggest you leave it behind. I will speak to the user as he consulted me on the matter but I did not know that the payment was pending. Ultimately, the way it was proposed to me was as if Earn had stopped responding after PP was sent which is true from one point of view.

Thanks for that but there is no misunderstanding, this guy was clearly trying to scam and the proof show that.

Hsde - September 23, 2018, 7:23 am

Edit: OP has told me that he has not recieved a PP refund nor the BTC. I suggest "Earn" to refund the money via dispute. Best outcome currently. If Earn attempts to keep the funds without paying BTC, he will be scamming and he may have a issue with sending the BTC and Ty2Busy not closing the dispute. The other choice is that Earn sends the BTC to a middle man and wait 3 days for the case to be closed and the transaction completed. Max for pending transactions under $600 is 24 hours, and 24-48 hour cancellation time for dispute. Also, once a dispute is cancelled, it can not be reopened. If Ty2Busy chargeback from his CC, his pp balance will go to negative and his transaction will not be affected.

You are a lying piece of shit. You have got your money back & you even admit that you have on my thread. Why would you admit that you already got the money back on my thread but here you are saying the opposite? Also, you state that you did not pay via card, but on Discord when you said you have sent the payment, you pasted the last 4 digits of your card to verify it was sent. You can't even keep your story together.

I will post screenshots of the entire chat log (most of which is him telling me to shut up & that he is getting me banned) & my PayPal tomorrow when I am on my computer.

Junx - September 23, 2018, 8:08 am

I've said it 3-4 times now.

I don't know if Earn scammed. Also he is not my friend. Read my posts from the beginning. I said it was possible the payment was pending because I have dealt with reputable members and payments have been pending in the past before but we deal with it like men. But OP is uninformed and decided to get rude with me so I don't give a fuck how I come off as.

Anyways OP, if you're telling the truth about not having received your money back (which would be odd as you have stated multiple times you received your money back) then Earn is probably scamming as he has an option to refund the payment once you opened a dispute. I suggest asking him to refund the payment from his PayPal or just wait it out.

Both of you should show some screenshots

This still doesn't take away from my main point that I find it silly that a credible excuse (payment being held) is being blown off. Earn likely received an email that the payment was held, but not sure, so maybe he can post that.

the Best Option would be You post snap from your paypal account showing that you already refunded.

and also snap of the email from Paypal which states that you refunded the payment.

You will have this 2 Proof only if you refunded the payment and it will Be in your support.

if you post only 1 proof then it would be Photo shopped suspected so better you post both proof together.

You don't need a computer to post a screenshot of a case on paypal. If you're not on a pc you're on a smart phone or something right?

Post an image of the payment being reversed and the dispute being finalized, screenshots are incredibly easy to post from your phone.

In the PayPal resolution center it works like this -

Ty2Busy opens dispute

Earn handles dispute (can click refund money / say he shipped an item already)

The funds are out of Earns use when Ty2Busy opens the dispute though. So I suggest Earn to actually go into the resolution center and click refund money as well. This should solve things up (if this is the case)

You again supporting a Scammer,

Answer to your Question: In this case Earn can Post image of the refunded payment as there will be also an email which he will get from paypal that the money is refunded.

Answer to your Question: In this case Earn can Post image of the refunded payment as there will be also an email which he will get from paypal that the money is refunded.

You are not the only paypal expert over here ?

But the only one who supports the scammer. ?

Me telling Earn to refund the money in the dispute center is supporting a scammer?

I don't see why you keep spamming about me supporting a scammer because I didn't buy your crypter.

(Yes, VisualSoft tried to sell me a shitty crypter but I didn't want to buy)

(Yes, VisualSoft tried to sell me a shitty crypter but I didn't want to buy)its nothing to do with my crypter or anything personal.

You should ask him to refund in you first post and not in the last one.

any ways now he is on the side of truth.

Nothing against him.

Nope, not at all.

Funny how Earn dipped from this thread and hasn't responded since being pressed for images of the case being resolved instantly and the funds back with OP. He's avoiding posting images and is hanging on some irrelevant quote from OP on another thread about getting the funds back, which are still tied up with this pending chargeback.

With all the unresolved deal disputes Earn is involved in, if he doesn't respond with proof soon, it will be easy to assume what exactly has gone down between him and OP.

Hope you get your funds back.

Call paypal. Don't mention it was for a crypto exchange, they should be able to help you.
