Thread: A wild Witcher has appeared.

• Enlil Wolf • - September 26, 2018, 2:03 am

Greetings to all the lovely people on here.

Even though I had joined a few days/weeks back. I forgot to start my introduction thread (Which is a douche move from my side). Apologies.

A bit about myself;

Name:

Aaron (It's my middle name)

Age:

24 (Birthday: 22nd September)

Location:

Velen

Interests:

Gaming, Hiking, Listening to Music and Staying fit enough to not die of backaches

Reason for joining:

Me and my family are going through some rough times financially and if there was any way in which I could help them with on the side. I'd try to do that, no matter what it takes. Not looking for anything big, just something reasonable within $400-500 a month would be a godsend help for now. Hoping to learn and pick up skills from the various mentors and masters and helpful people in here.

Personality:

Quite open, Friendly with everyone and I love making people laugh.

Regards, your friendly Witcher.

Welcome to Hack Forums! You show some very ambitious goals! If I may ask, do you have a regular job? You can certainly make that kind of money online, but starting up may be slow.

Be sure to read through the help documents!

Thank you so much sir. I appreciate it.

Well I do love to write and I write locally for some newspapers (So that's a small steady income monthly). I have ghost-written for other people and news/media websites (Part-time work for money). I usually offer my editing and writing skills whenever and wherever I could. I also do some art/graphics editing work on the side but it's like a random thing, I don't have a recurring line of work to support it.

And from last year, I saved up to form my own company (Which I did - finished all the legalities to form it). The saving amount was thanks to a successful sale of my Shopify store (Wasn't too big but enough to get me started in the right direction). Made a good amount from it to fund my endeavours and dream. My dream is to operate a Global 'Mobile game development' company in the coming years. Currently talking with multiple investors locally and globally. So yea, until that thing takes off. I am searching to utilize my time. As I hate wasting time.

I say it's worth checking out.

One thing to be cautious of is buying various e-books that promise you to make hundreds of dollars on the first day, in general, just be careful about buying money-making methods here, I'm not saying they're all fake / bad, some of them is definitely legitimate, just a lot of it is very saturated. Also, be very careful about all those "easy guaranteed money with this gambling script".

If you are capable of doing some graphics, then that's definitely a thing I'd recommend you to do, you may not pull in a ton of money right away, but there is money to be made if you want and got patience to do so.

Either way, welcome to. ?

Welcome to Hackforums,

If you need any help regrading anything, just hit me with a PM.

Also, I'll request you to please remove your personal details like country as you really won't want people doxing you.

Anyways enjoy your stay here.

Thanks for the very warm welcome to the community and the sincere advice on not jumping into buying all those eBooks without proper research. If you'd be kind, do you recommend some that you may use yourself over PM, if it is possible to share and I'm not asking for too much.

Well, it is something I definitely see myself doing down the line. Thanks for the reference. Much appreciated.

And thank you very much once again.

Thank you kind sir for the warm welcome.

I will definitely keep that in mind and should I require any assistance, I will definitely get in touch with you. Also thank you for the tip, changed the location immediately as I saw your post. My apologies for replying to all of you so late.

I hope so too. Looking to learn and earn.

Thank you Xasya, same goes for you too bud. If you find something worth looking at, I'd love to get into it too :)

All in all, thanks to everyone of you for welcoming me. Hope to see you around and learn from all of you.

Regards.

Hey Aaron,

Welcome to the forum lounge.

Were you able to find a way to make some extra income for your family?

I hope things get better for your family soon!

Thank you Sir KyleKim ?

Well I'm thinking of how I can be of service to this community down the line with my skills while also familiarizing myself with all the threads and different places. As for the money part, I have seen a few things which has me interested. Hopefully it works out.

Thank you once again for the warm welcome ?

Regards.

None of the info I have here can or will do any harm to me.

I just find it a bit depressing where you are basically trying to introduce yourself to a community but you are scarce on details. I don't think like that, hence my Introduction includes the basics which gives a little insight on how I am. (Just my thought and ideology)

Thanks for the heads up though, I appreciate it.

Regards.
