Thread: DoorDash Services Banned

Omniscient - September 26, 2018, 8:11 pm

Due to the likelihood of fraudulent activity related to Doordash services they are now banned on HF. Anyone offering services related to Doordash will get banned or closed and threads junked. All existing threads have already been closed but if you find one open please report it.

It is now listed on the Disallowed Blackhat Activity Help Doc.

<https://hackforums.net/misc.php?action=help&hid=21>

Thank you.

All the news pointing to the company, is showing that people have been hacked and people stealing others money.

Lavish Living - September 26, 2018, 8:15 pm

Should just expand this ban to ubereats/skip the line/postmates services as well.

RIP to my cheap food sources =/

I may have to do that if problems persist.

Welp RIP to the only Legal and Legit Food supplier here xD.

I still love you Omni and I get why this had to be done.

The irony is that it was your PM to me that caused the immediate ban.

Ever heard the phrase..."let sleeping dogs lie"?

Don't see how a PM saying that I been hosting my Service here since Feb without any issues and with extent proof that I am doing it legally.

And that phrase only goes for "Situations currently causing no problems" That's not the case here as you closed my service which caused me a problem.

So I reached out to you about it.

The classical "I can do anything" Omni xD

I mean it is his website with the rules he's written himself that you agreed to when you registered. You can't blame him for making sure he doesn't get into legal trouble because someone decided to be an idiot on his website.

I'm pretty sure there's something in there saying the rules can change at any time, as well. If you're going to pull this card, then every single company that has ever changed their terms of service is unfair.

Omni has disliked me since 2014, He has a Power Trip over everything.

I am honestly surprised he didn't ban me for a random reason like last time xD

I'm not here to spam post or Argue with Anyone. Just simply respond with opinions to the matter.

I agree with Omni that something needed to be done, but closing a legit service because other members found a way to abuse it is Not cool.

I mean I can make a thread with a Poll of who wants my thread to stay open and It will sure as hell pass with flyin colors. I saved the members here over $60k to date you/evil have enough loyal customers that your business won't even be affected by this ban... idk why you crying =/

I know I alone have paid over $600 to you guys lol, was paying $20-40 every day for weeks when I was staying at my parents over summer, but sadly no dd near my college means I stopped requiring your services :(

Evil - September 26, 2018, 8:53 pm

I didn't get to respond on my other thread. Just gonna say I respect your decision and will no longer sell doordash on HF. Thank you for answering my question on the other thread.

I know xD, I'm more upset from all the hard work I put into this to keep it up and going. My daily income won't be affected but finding new customers will.

I'm not worried about that, but some customers will find it alarming that my thread was closed, I don't want to be "outlooked" that I was doing orders Illegally, I want people to know I was legit and loyal.

Do you really expect me to ban Doordash services except yours because you tell me it's legit?

The classical..."protect HF" Omni. I'm not trying to protect your sales. I'm trying to protect the community.

I don't just wake up and decide, today I'm going to fuck with member sales and ban shit.

It's been a problem this week with spammers and that's how I know it's blackhat and full of scammers. You're effected, I get it. You wish I'd just let things be. That's not going to happen.

I did, I get why he did it. I didn't realize Doordash is all over the news right now for hacked accounts.
It's safer to remove them all and just avoid the hassle, I just am upset because in my aspect it hurts me, But it's what's best for the Community.

All in All, It was the better choice to go with for right now.

Wow I didnt Even Get My Free And Reduced Meals

apepi - September 26, 2018, 11:25 pm

Makes sense. They don't giveaway free food, they have to pay the companies to get the food. So all these cheap 50% or less services are sketchy as hell. They don't have coupons given out like that. Nearly all fraud. Thanks for taking action, teens thinking it's all cool get cheap food delivered don't need to get screwed over by some jackass carder.

Not a bad idea, I was always under the impression all foodngc is banned I don't see why you'd allow Buy4U for food.

GloryToBe - September 27, 2018, 4:28 am

I remember when ubereats services first came out Omni was banning them and closing accounts too, I think this is a good idea. There may be a few legit services but many of them are fraudulent as well.

AssGang - September 27, 2018, 10:55 am

Thanks.

teamnycz - October 3, 2018, 10:59 am

Thanks for keeping us safe but I must ask, wouldn't it be easily for to provide proof of legitimacy of service? A simple upload of your service with the appropriate tags and user verification (sign of exact username and code or something) .. Nonetheless, completely respect the decisions!! Keep up the good work

It's just an incase thing. Could try to enforce that, would be nearly impossible to do so on everyone. More along the lines to keep the site out of legal trouble. Brings up the say "one bad egg ruins the dozen" or something like that.

SUI-3183372 - October 5, 2018, 10:46 am

I wish there was a more proactive way to guard against services such as this one and other common fraudulent services. It's just an endless cycle of people figuring out the next best way to defraud some company and sell what they receive for a fraction of the cost. But I guess that's just it, the only really suitable defense is just a strong reactive response as soon as something new pops up. Unfortunate.

Edit: Although I did find humor in seeing people order fraudulent services to their front door. Nothing like linking a name and address to your illegal activities.
