

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: E-whoring section regarding Paypal threads etc.

Banter. - September 28, 2018, 5:19 pm

Being very active in the section with helping people i always see threads about pay pal issues some More Sketchy than the others some asking advice some asking for a Blackhat method to getting there money is it possible to get a Moderator in the section or some sort of Rules laid out in a sticky i mean the amount of threads i have Replied to people asking the same thing is unreal, and some just asking for VBA's etc which obviously is against forum rules.

i use the section daily and quite a lot helping new and older members in methods and starting out and it would be nice to have some sort of rules with in the section or a dedicated moderator for the section ?

i mean that and to have someone or people to monitor the section for Blackhat threads in this regard and monitor for possible underage postage of girls etc, i would happy for someone to mod the section and keep it under control for when this stuff pops up i know the Section itself is currently looked after by mentors but just a Suggestion ?

PS - i was not asking to become a MOD of the section directly i just want to see the section become alot more cleaner and efficient

Nadisty - September 30, 2018, 6:06 am

(Sep 28, 2018 05:19 PM)Banter. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Being very active in the section with helping people i always see threads about pay pal issues some More Sketchy than the others some asking advice some asking for a Blackhat method to getting there money is it possible to get a Moderator in the section or some sort of Rules laid out in a sticky i mean the amount of threads i have Replied to people asking the same thing is unreal, and some just asking for VBA's etc which obviously is against forum rules.

i use the section daily and quite a lot helping new and older members in methods and starting out and it would be nice to have some sort of rules with in the section or a dedicated moderator for the section ?

i mean that and to have someone or people to monitor the section for Blackhat threads in this regard and monitor for possible underage postage of girls etc, i would happy put myself forward for it.

i know the Section itself is currently looked after by mentors but just a Suggestion ?

Asking to become a moderator of a section probably won't happen for you. I guess until staff or Omni reply, just use the help tag until something happens.

Zexi - September 30, 2018, 6:24 am

(Sep 28, 2018 05:19 PM)Banter. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Being very active in the section with helping people i always see threads about pay pal issues some More Sketchy than the others some asking advice some asking for a Blackhat method to getting there money is it possible to get a Moderator in the section or some sort of Rules laid out in a sticky i mean the amount of threads i have Replied to people asking the same thing is unreal, and some just asking for VBA's etc which obviously is against forum rules.

i use the section daily and quite a lot helping new and older members in methods and starting out and it would be nice to have some sort of rules with in the section or a dedicated moderator for the section ?

i mean that and to have someone or people to monitor the section for Blackhat threads in this regard and monitor for possible underage postage of girls etc, i would happy put myself forward for it.

i know the Section itself is currently looked after by mentors but just a Suggestion ?

You are right though the only section that gets allot of Blackhat questions regarding paypal fraud is the Ewhoring section. Once a day there must be one :)

Banter. - September 30, 2018, 6:31 am

(Sep 30, 2018 06:06 AM)Nadisty Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Asking to become a moderator of a section probably won't happen for you. I guess until staff or Omni reply, just use the help tag until something happens.

i was not Directly asking to become a Mod for the section as suggested im happy to see anyone who is Active with in the section to become a Mod or even some sort of rules laid out, the section is so bad at times with paypal blackhat stuff and boarder line other stuff that i personally would love to see a mod or 2 with in the section to keep it clean.

i Edited my post because it sounded like i was asking for it but it was not the case i just want to make the section clean and tidy and not full of Spam and crap (Sep 30, 2018 06:24 AM)Zexi Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You are right though the only section that gets allot of Blackhat questions regarding paypal fraud is the Ewhoring section. Once a day there must be one :) Yeah i know buddy i have seen you replying to the threads just like i am it get annoying. ?

its the Pay pal threads and alot of other stuff ive noticed, Alot of old threads bumped theres quite alot with in the section.

i mean im always helping people between the section and people sending me Private messages, i always see alot of Old threads bumped asking for packs seems to be a increase of people discussing VBA's & VCC's recently. i mean it great we have new users coming to the section but there seems to be no real structure to the section.

i have been working on collecting Packs to make a Active thread for new users and i have debated writing a thread on do's & dont's but it most likely be ignored and left to drop off pages back, there is ofcourse a difference between the boaderline blackhat questions and simple spam etc, like bragging of earnings which there is a section dedicated just for that.

Hopefully we can get something sorted for the section to clean it up abit

Elitas - September 30, 2018, 6:57 am

Do not ask to become a moderator of a specific section, you will be given it if it is deemed necessary.

Additionally, I would agree that a lot of sections require some more moderator attention. The only solution to this is for members like yourself to REPORT violating posts in these sections and allow the mentors and staff to deal with these reports.

And for sure, clarification of rules in the form of a sticky can always be useful, feel free to reply to offending threads and educate users to help prevent the rule-breaks.

Banter. - September 30, 2018, 7:05 am

(Sep 30, 2018 06:57 AM)Elitas Wrote: CITE Do not ask to become a moderator of a specific section, you will be given it if it is deemed necessary.

Additionally, I would agree that a lot of sections require some more moderator attention. The only solution to this is for members like yourself to REPORT violating posts in these sections and allow the mentors and staff to deal with these reports.

And for sure, clarification of rules in the form of a sticky can always be useful, feel free to reply to offending threads and educate users to help prevent the rule-breaks.

Yeah i did not mean for it to come across like i was nor asking for it in that manor i mean im happy for anyone to have it Honest!

Yeah i do report the threads, & usually i will leave a comment saying that it is against forum rules etc but some threads stay up to long up and just starts a all out war with people suggesting silly things that relate to blackhat stuff, not blaming mentors or the staff what so ever i mean there looking after quite alot and its hard to get around quickly and efficiently to every report and resolve the issue related, thats were my point really becomes valid in regards to having a dedicated member/members to looks after the section.

Yeah i mean either of the options is a solid idea & i mean we will always have people who will not read the thread and will bypass and make a threads, but agreed having some sort of ground rules is a good option for members to view before posting, i have wrote a thread probably 3-4 times now going in depth about rules with in the section but never actually posted anything because ive seen so many threads with in the section fall of quickly maybe i will start another one today.

Edit- Made a thread ill update it as i go along but it gives a general insight and some base rules <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5890274>

Eagle 95 - October 1, 2018, 5:51 am

We don't need more moderators, we need people to actually use the report button. It'll be handled as fast as possible if reported.

So, to OP - use report button if you see policy violation.