You want to scan bigger files?

Download an Antivirus or Just pay for their Pro service.

No one is here to sell his work for free

No, I do not. Was going to pump a file larger than VT's File Size Limit so it hinders VT scanning by most people.

Bind it, Pump it on execution i dont like both ideas.

i would use a self replace function, so when the user already clicked the exe and get suspicious afterwards he would upload a file with random symbols.. lul or you pump your file and disguise it as another file like .dll .tp7 etc. and the executable the user clicks is just an unpacker or starter. So when he now uploads this one file he would not encounter any Warning from VT.
