ilovehackforum_CE - October 7, 2018, 10:50 am

Dear Omni

Its Me CyberError(UID:- 2793753)

tried to contact with you from Twitter and Instagram but no success, I am an old member of your forum , you banned me for my post in some thread where I asked/post "how other Forums allow illegal activities, without getting caught " and you get offended with that post somehow I guess , I seriously have to no attention to offend you and have to no negative attitude towards you & the forum , I really love this forum and its the only forum or social media which I use regularly , so I request you to kindly unban me and accept my apologies for my mistake , I promise you to bring quality content into the forum and help the forum in any way possible in the near future , I with the help of staff caught many scammers , and I always head ups newbie to use the contract system to avoid any fraud or to promote contract system, I really love this forum and I don't think its easy to live without it

I made a video on youtube for my apology or try to promote forum (google ads disapproved this tho because of hack in the name I guess)

Youtube vid :- RA5yP9Nzfd0

Really appreciate any kindness please ?

Thanks and regar

My thoughts on this:

Obviously you care about this site, and have been here long enough to know there is a proper way to contact the boss in private right?

hackforums.net/contact.php

Making a new account so soon after you were banned and asking to come back is not the right way to do it. I could understand you making this request if it was say a month after you were banned but it's only been a few days at this point.

That being said, I hope you are allowed back, you seem to be one of those members who really cares about this site and for that reason you are likely to be a great member going forward.

Hopefully you can have your account back and move forward from this. All the best.

I'm really considering getting it once again... But the fact that they log each letter you type, each sentence..?

But yeah it is truly a great addon. Especially for us who do not have English as our antive tongue.

If he does then everyone who gets banned will be creating multiple accounts and do the same.

I think that omniscient won't unban him else he would be sending a message that he most likely doesn't want to send.

OP could better have gone private through the contact form like others mentioned already.

However OP has some community support, this could be the difference, we'll see.

I liked your conversations here. You were helpful here.

But, like your away reason is a bit fucked up, and Omni somehow was hurt at that comment about how other forums allow BH activities.

You might have expected that to come your way.

Please keep in mind the above link has nothing to do with this thread so to speak?
However the OP was/is banned and has created a new account. (Ban Evading)

By making a new account and making this public only make the odds of recovery more limited.
OP should have just let the Ban run it's course and returned then.

By creating a new account odds are it's getting closed.

I saw you post with another temp account OP. It was cybererror_temp and you posted in the ewhoring section i dont think that will help your ban either considering this is your 3rd account?

Was the reason you were banned the fact that you were posting: "Stealth account?? PayPal??? PM ME??" on each PayPal related thread in the e-Whoring section?

Anyways good luck OP.

From my point of view Omniscient had multiple reasons to ban you and yet you still claim that you have done nothing wrong and you broke no rules.

Which means that if he unbans your account you'll break the same rules again, because you done nothing wrong right?

1. You are creating multiple accounts
2. You support blackhat and even look for PayPal stealth accounts on HF?!
3. You even spammed on other people's threads to obtain these illegal paypal accounts?!
4. You insulted the owner of this website.
5. You try to fake apologize just to get your account back by doing so you break another rule, you don't care about Omniscient or his rules because you claim that you broke none, therefore I consider this to be a fake apology, you just regret you broke the rules and got banned but you don't want to admit that you broke them.

Omniscient needs to send a message and if he accepts apologies from you then he will be sending the wrong message and everyone who gets banned will do exactly the same thing.

Say farewell to your old HF account, you should have known better, I don't even know you but common sense tells me this.

Don't get me wrong tho, I don't even know you and never heard of you before but I'm just using common sense which you should do too.

most of the thing you said he unrelated , not sure if you even read my thread, and why i can smell so much hate dude ?

- 1) multiple account so i can contact admin , nothing else i had used this account for
- 2) i never promote any blackhat activity , stealth paypal is something which need in ewhoring and once once i said that in public and got reasonable warning for that , and thats discussion count in warning not in BAN
- 3) only once as i said , mostly i helped people with paypal (legit way) , because of my experience with pp
- 4) i never insulted him , i truly respect every admin (you can check killerhawk screenshot too , where i once said how omni is great and work for forum)
- 5) how can you say its fake apology ? even tho most of the member who know me saying i do care about forum ? why you hating me for no reason dude?
