Thread: New to Runescape, need some tips if possible

_IWN - October 8, 2018, 10:51 pm

I started playing RuneScape recently and i'm getting really into it, anyone down to help me out or give me some tips that I could really use? Like for example I'm still confused on what skill should i focus the most and what methods I should be using to make some GP, Online tutorials and methods keep on confusing me mostly because I never understand what they are talking about like items I never knew existed, and then I end up searching them up and get my self into more confusion.

Are you playing RS3 or old school runescape?

Train combat while doing slayer. Google Plague's End, it's a quest line which unlocks Elf city (Any and everything is there, you'll never leave)

It's a long questline with a shit load of requirements. It's a great goal and will keep you busy

Throw on some music and have at it

I'm actually playing it with my buddy, this seems interesting I'll make sure to try it today, thanks.

Depends what you are trying to do?

Are you going mainly for combat skills?

Or are you skilling?

Or making money from ethier skilling or combat?

Some tips...Uhh. Don't get lured. If something sounds too good to be true, it probably is :)

I grew up with this game, I was here from the launch of RS2 until the day they started destroying their own game. Came back after OSRS was released.. fun times. I have a maxed account on RS3 but I don't know shit about that game anymore :o

usually people that first begin playing runescape level up any skill that's possible, people do this so they can get quick money. once you get bored cause your skills are so high and you need a lot of experience for a level, you can create a new account that you can have fun with, like a pking account or skiller. I haven't played runescape in a while, but I think the population for RS3 is slowly decreasing compared to OSRS. Correct me if im wrong.

are you playing OSRS or RS3/EOC?

I know you're probably less interested in OSRS than RS3, but I'm gonna strongly recommend you make the switch to OSRS. It's got a stronger community and playerbase, and overall I find it way more fun. If you wanna make the switch and start up on OSRS I'm level 123 and I'd be more than happy to help you start out and show you the ropes :)

Buy the gold, then skill don't waste time making GP.

A good starter tip is building combat through slayer. It will save you a headache in the future.
