You can buy installs and upload the miner that way.

Youtube is going to get taken down real fast. You could just buy installs off of people as the above person has mentioned, it's cheap.

Only two things limit you money and creativity. Want a bunch of androids you have a poster made with a qrcode, offer a free coffee they just install an app. Want high end machines game cheat it should work that's the thing. Want to spread around town buy some USB's and place malware and drop them in high traffic areas.

read up on social engineering. just browse around the internet and brainstorm some ideas. buy some social media profiles and use those to promote the download. write a fake review of your program (complete with fake feedback on how great the product is). there's basically 2 parts you have to think of 1. a good high traffic or medium traffic area to place the link or download 2. how you present it to make people want it

Just go about on Shodan find some vulnerables(IOT,Apache,etc etc)and place code.
Look into how mikrotik routers got owned, huge net of zombies mining xmr.

Hack some sites and backdoor them with code.

P.s don't let them mine coins at 100% ;)
