

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Seeking Staff Clarification

Nexussss - October 19, 2018, 8:30 am

Everyday for years I had seen thread like this being posted, however I never thought I would be posting one myself.

I woke up this morning to my account suspended, I created this temporary account to view my recent activity and perhaps come to a solution as to why this decision was made, however I am still left scratching my head.

Please consider this an appeal of the decision to suspend my account.

My main goal of creating this post is to reverse the suspension on my account, my secondary goal is to gain some closure and reasoning as to why my account of over 7 years was suspended.

The account in question: uid=696316

Thank you for your time and consideration.

SUI-3183372 - October 19, 2018, 10:59 am

(Oct 19, 2018 08:30 AM)Nexussss Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Everyday for years I had seen thread like this being posted, however I never thought I would be posting one myself.

I woke up this morning to my account suspended, I created this temporary account to view my recent activity and perhaps come to a solution as to why this decision was made, however I am still left scratching my head.

Please consider this an appeal of the decision to suspend my account.

My main goal of creating this post is to reverse the suspension on my account, my secondary goal is to gain some closure and reasoning as to why my account of over 7 years was suspended.

The account in question: uid=696316

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Nothing in the content of your last dozen or so posts stands out as inappropriate or ban worthy. However, your account has been mostly inactive since June and suddenly yesterday there was a burst of activity. It could be it looks like your account was just purchased and it was closed for that reason.

Was your account just sold/purchased?

Vitani - October 19, 2018, 1:18 pm

Seems your account was closed for a serious signature violation. If you want to appeal your ban you can go ahead and use the Contact form. Making a thread here won't solve anything.

