Equilibrium, Influence, Skill, Dawn, Legends, Polymath, Unity, Terminal.

Are not Newly bought within the last 2-3 months as you have stated.

In fact, These groups are at least a year or more old.

Most of the group mentioned are bought recently(considering my join date) by Iani(Polymath),Night Fury,`RaZoR,MMLF but didn't change the group name(owners changed)

Crystallize was recently kicked out.So razor is talking care of it

Mentors and xero are good at programming,planning,building and leading the group so their is no problem for 630 I guess to simply sell the group off

Lol I remember when Divined purchased loads of groups everyone was saying it was a genius investment and that group prices would skyrocket but that was all bullshit hype. I know he never saw it as an investment and doesn't care about that much. But still, there are too many inactive groups right now, probably explains that price, I'd actually consider buying one for that.

Think that is the intention here. Using bytes for crews drives up activity from posting, etc. Instead of just basing it around users throwing around money between the same 10 people who own groups, anyone can own a Crew now provided they have the bytes. This is essentially going to kill the group scene.

The only way to really get enough bytes for a crew is to buy them though.

I got to almost 600 bytes the other day and lost it all in 10 minutes.

You get like 1 byte I believe per post, so I don't see how you'd save up that quick unless you make 100+ posts a day.

Hopefully, even then, if it was 3 bytes per post you'd need over 33,000 posts to get the top crew. I suppose we'll see what kind of system they come up with.

Planning on bringing the brotherhood back

Yeah, I know that. I was asking if you were one of those people that wanted something more exclusive or something new that probably has more potential.

Nice to see ya back brother.

It seams as though some of the OG groups of years past are making a come back.

Was in both the original and BH II.

Bring back the BrotherHood!
I still have the original signature.

Welcome back btw haven't seen you around for a while.
That's very little, I may consider getting one if price stays below $4k.

Oh, and a warm "welcome back" to Cryptic. The Brotherhood has been a great group.

It'd be cool, but I'd first have to decide what to do with it. Groups are stagnant at this time.

Invite friends, sell spots, or just be the only one in it with a custom UB.
