MR. MORNINGsTAR - October 19, 2018, 1:35 pm

I've been working on some designs for KingPrediction Facebook page.

I really like the design, the image of ronaldo looks like it's been purposely blurred. I believe it would be better as a faded crisp image.

Yes, it was purposely blurred, it looks better on facebook when you see the whole page.

Not feeling it bro, looks like you used a poor quality picture.

Thank you!

This looks far too generic. I don't like the Cr7 blurring either, you can do a lot better with this.

There is no proper visual hierarchy. You're using a bold font for the title and the text under it. You need to remove the boldness of the text, but other than that you should look at inspiration.

Just my 2 cents.

Goodluck.

Giving the little stick man a crown and a cape to show that he's a king would make it a little cooler in my opinion but in general it looks nice!

The arms and legs on the logo look too big. It looks fine though!

The cover picture looks nice, but the avatar could do better.

I don't mean the actual graphics on them, but something like visibility (so that it's more clear for potential customers to see what the page is about).

Overall nice though, good job OP.

I like it but it feels like it needs a finishing touch maybe something with the lettertype or around it
