Thread: So many sellers, make it so difficult to get what you pay for, lost so much money

pabloeskimobar - October 26, 2018, 6:42 am

Hi HF.....

This policy, where you purchase, then get an email, then need to come back and post, then wait again, then message thru skype, it's quite overwhelming.

One day, I just went a little overboard, and purchased 20 different things, thinking, "hey, one day I can use this, or this can benefit me today".....3 weeks later, I'm still trying to get the item delivered. One guy, "message me on skype"....well hey bud, I bought here, can we just speak here....or don't even speak, just send over what I purchased.

Just wish there was an easier way to get my item, yet not 1 single person offers instant delivery, even the ones that do, the only instant thing is the notepad message with instructions, a long list, on how to get the product. This is a major deterrent..

If you ran into this same issue, go ahead and post about it. When we bought the item, it didn't say 10 steps to download the ACTUAL product/service. If there is a good reason for it, sure let me know in advance, not after. So for all 20 things purchased, I've sent 60 messages back and forth, and 7 have been delivered. I trust that I will get them one day, but i'm over it now. I'd even be down to give someone the transaction ID and email, they can pursue it.

I only post to say, "please sellers, be more thoughtful, when a buyer makes a purchase, I'm quite positive they would love to be able to get the item delivered the first message. I thought about benefits to why you do this, and the only thing I figured out, is that it helps bring a little hype back to your post by creating a free Vouch system, and show others that hey, this product is moving.

Well, hope someone can relate, just thought I could give my input on something that's been irritating. I am quite busy, so maybe it's just me. Hope you all have a good day, and better luck than me. Cheers! ?

This is because people want their threads bumped when someone buys also this way they farm more posts on their thread and it looks more trusted

Pyro - October 26, 2018, 7:48 am i have no clue what u are talking about

Juffar - October 26, 2018, 7:26 pm

If you are talking about ebooks (if you are not I have no idea what you are talking about) the sellers do this to lower the risk of the ebook being leaked/purchased with stolen money.

mydestiny2018 - October 27, 2018, 4:21 pm

so when you purchase, you are put on like a wait list, i hope im not too far down the list. i just purchased yesterday. hope i get what i purchased soon.

LazyKiller - October 27, 2018, 5:08 pm

Sellers should delivery items directly with the payment (mostly on selly) I hate this system aswell.

Cryptic™ - October 27, 2018, 9:03 pm

I hate it when you message someone for something and they reply hours later when your offline saying "let me know when your here"

Just answer my good damn fucking question and I'll read it when I'm online

Some people are plain stupid

Amp - October 27, 2018, 9:10 pm

Just stay away from eBooks.

Yea, if you've made purchases, you understand.

I can explain more, but long story short, anything I've bought, nothing of it was delivered instantly.

I had to send proof, messages, transaction ID's. But if I bought it using my email, I mean that should be sufficient enough to prove I am who I say...or one would think that's the case.

Thanks everyone who responded.

Same as you mate. It happened to me too.

It's really boring. I made some purchased and I'm also not sure I received everything. Never buy a lot of things in a single day, or you'll lose tracking of them ?

I didn't know that..but that makes sense. But no, it's been for everything I've purchased actually.

Thanks for responding!!

Haha...exactly what happened. I didn't "lose" them, but it's just such a headache to go back and forth...now some people have their PM disabled. It's frustrating because I purchased mostly from Selly and it says INSTANT...yet I just receive a 'follow these 5 short steps'....

Hope eventually I get it around to it and it's not too late.

The hardest part now, the disabled PM, and going thru the long list of who needs what, and matching transaction ID's to the right party.

I've learned the lesson ?

I'm pretty sure I didn't receive a guide of Instagram Hack, I had to:

- download txt from selly
- post in selling thread
- pm him
- open a contract
- join a discord channel
- talk with a bot with my order id

and I should receive it finally... but I didn't.

Exactly that....100% spot on with the steps.

"hEY MaN, tHaNkS fOr buYInG, hErE iS mY diScOrD, dM tHeRe aNd hErE on skYPe, aNd pm ORdeR iD, aNd poSt oN mY ThReAd aNd....."

you are spot on my friend...I know you have gone thru the same thing. I would love to continue with the market, but it's difficult like this.

Rayner - October 28, 2018, 3:50 am

This is why the contract system will be so beneficial now.

If you're a seller here you need to take precautions like this. It's to avoid leaking and the use of fraudulent funds from buyers. As sellers you want legitimate transactions, otherwise there is no point in selling here.

How does this prevent leaking tho? I don't see it as much of a precaution, I'm sure you have a better understanding then me.

If they were to just send it to the person who bought it, and the email they used, the information they ask for makes no difference.

After you send the coin, you get the transaction number directly from Selly I believe, Email, can be any email, since the user is inputting it, so fraudulent or not. Discord/Skype....what is the purpose of going there, when we bought from HF market

I understand what you mean mate, but is there really a benefit. Would love to hear your input, as I have been quite curious regarding the matter.

Ok, but you need to see it also from the buyer-view. This is embarrassing.

I figured sellers ask you to reply on their thread because they want their sales thread bumped every time someone makes a purchase. More replies equals more sales.

I am not going to lie, I'd have done the same thing if I was selling something. Since there is no other way.

pabloeskimobar - October 29, 2018, 9:11 am

Yes, everyone is making a solid point. I still stand with the buyer on this one, which is me at this very moment. Also, support is quite difficult. I love HF, but I've noticed a decline in provider quality. It is our part to make sure the community stays strong, and quality material. Thanks for replying to my first thread, great to hear everyone's stance and experiences.

I just purchased an item on selly from an HF seller. what he requires is unacceptable... I'll ask a refund Refund, I see that as non existent in today's game. You can try, but be respectful when speaking to the seller, it is better than being rude and having zero chance. I have never asked for a refund, but I do see your problem here where if you knew what you were getting into, you wouldn't have purchased. Hence, one of the issues some have ran into; the sellers know this, and it's a way of playing the system well.

Do you mind telling us what are the requirements, kind of like the post by LazyKiller.

No Pressure, I respect your privacy. Thanks and good luck with that refund.

PS: Try to use a contract in the future. Always good to document..I learned the hard way.

Yes, I'll use the contract system from now. Unfortunately I didn't read that function until now.
Thanks for your suggestion!

Zymase - October 29, 2018, 9:35 am

Hundred percent agree with you. Sucks that people has to nag to get what they paid for. If someone purchases malware they might not be too hyped about posting their payment ID or such on a thread.

And then wait for the seller to come online.
