What's something that people think makes them look cool, but actually makes them look ridiculous?

I'd say people wearing their pants really really low. It is ludicrous!

voidshifter666 - October 26, 2018, 2:53 pm

I'd say face tattoos. A little one is ok, but too much is just weird.

the teardrop tattoo is kind of savage though. I saw a guy with one once. didn't know what it meant then. I do now.

giant chains with a ton of stuff on them. wearing on the outside is a bit irritating but not terrible. I wear a chain under my shirt. you can see it but it's not like "yo look at my chain homie."

I got no idea why you'd want to be a walking fog machine. If I got a vape I'd prefer it to have as little smoke as possible.

A few of my friends quit smoking and now I'm just constantly trying to fucking blow giant ass clouds out of my face and getting overbearing fuckin candy smells even 30 seconds

Yeah it's super fucking annoying. Go ahead and vape. Use a little juul or something. You need your nicotine fix - quit trying to show everyone how great your lung capacity is.

What ever happened to good ol fashioned patches or nic gum

I feel like a lot of people get sucked into vaping because of the 'culture' surrounding it too.

People who vape think it's the coolest shit.

Give it 10 years and some study will crop up saying how unhealthy it is for you.

I do agree, tbh. Those wannabe vapers who actually have no nicotine in their vape liquid(?) and just smoke it to be cool is cringe af. Peer pressure is quite important, I'd say. I just don't think that most people get into vaping just because of the culture, tbh.

Yeah THAT makes absolutely no sense to me. Why even do it if you're not satisfying your buzz...

Also, you'd be surprised. At local vape shops they hangout there all day and have cloud blowing contests with prizes, etc. It is very much a social group as it is a "hobby".

Some of the vapes are touchscreen, can talk and all types of crazy stuff. I don't understand the desire to pimp out a vape. I've always heard they break easily if dropped.

Yeah, that's too fancy. I don't vape, but I'd get a decent one at a slightly above average price and call it a day.

I would probably say flat brim snapbacks. They literally never, never look good. They're always bad. Then you mix it with things like camo cargo shorts, pop culture shirts like Rick and Morty, and a giant brick sized vape. You could not look more like a douchebag than that.
