So yeah! I just Interviewed at a Top 5 Defense Contractor for a summer Software Engineering Internship, they paid for my travel and hotel expenses, got a $60 steak at a steakhouse last night, was pretty awesome! Lived like a king for an entire 24 hours.

Does anyone have any interview questions? Post em and we can discuss! I imagine theres quite a few people with questions about how it all works

Sounds good I wish you the best of luck, cyber is huge when it comes to defense companies, Northrop/Lockheed/Boeing all of them have some level of cyber team, now a days with so many systems integrated you find that vulnerabilities before were rarely addressed. Like the AN/APG77 Radar on the F22 and F15 SE (Silent Eagle APG-82) gathers data from multiple other sources such as AWACS heck even ground troops.. iirc their radar scans the ground as well and accuracy enough to pickup a person. I think that they also have a wifi/rf connection at something like 500+megs, either way get it remember to steal the towels, soap, shampoo and Kleenex box too for good measure. (jk)
