It Takes A Special Character to Pull Something Like This Off

Not sure if police will say something but this guy is a idiot

Dredd - October 28, 2018, 5:52 am

He's just making a bold statement, he's also probably hella insecure

I have to agree with that. People who show off a lot are mostly insecure.

I think it's funny. I don't see why the police would or should do anything?

I dont think people would want to be explaining to their kids what is on buddies back window.It might not be against the law but it runs a fine line

In the UK it would be breaking profanity laws so they would do something.

And I HIGHLY doubt it "runs a fine line" between illegal and legal.

That being said, I guess I agree that it's a pretty rough thing to put on your window; And if I were a parent, I wouldn't appreciate it even remotely.

I believe it would be Disorderly Conduct in Florida It is an offence at common law for a person to do an act or acts which outrage public decency. ... In general, the offence applies to all grossly scandalous behaviour or behaviour that openly outrages indecency or is offensive and disgusting, or is injurious to public morals by tending to corrupt them.

I have also seen some random car stickers before.

One time there was a dude that had a custom sticker made for his car to warn other car owners not to buy a Citroen.

Kinda strange in my opinion.
