dontspamthisplease - October 28, 2018, 12:54 pm

I just buy the same tshirt bundled like 10 or 5 and wear it lol

lunaticcc - October 28, 2018, 12:55 pm

I do not aim to buy designer clothes. If a piece is really nice, I'll go for it, but it is not an important thing for me.

Abruptum - October 28, 2018, 12:55 pm

Well if the designer clothes are better than usual products then maybe. If not then its pointless to buy something which is basicaly the same thing you allready have just with a badge on..

Unkn0wnUs3r - October 28, 2018, 12:55 pm

I have a few pieces. Most of the time I just wear standard clothes though, unless I'm going somewhere nice.

savaged. - October 28, 2018, 12:55 pm

okay, i thought designer clothes were a lot more common then they are. where i live everyone wears them.

iNuke - October 28, 2018, 12:56 pm

At one time most of my money went into clothes. Now I just wear what I have, and buy a nice designer piece every once in a while.

Bossk - October 28, 2018, 12:57 pm

Yin Yang - October 28, 2018, 12:59 pm

You'd have to be materialistic to spend $300 on a shirt. But like Kayne said, "The best things in life aren't free."

its extremely popular over here, pretty standard thing.

Zeus - October 30, 2018, 1:02 pm

I like some designer, not too much, depends on the item.

b?xxy - November 2, 2018, 11:11 am

Eh, that's one of the last things I spend my money on.
Don't really need that kind of stuff.

Wolf - November 2, 2018, 11:13 am

I buy my clothes in second hand shops. You can get really nice clothes for small buck.

Nima304 - November 2, 2018, 11:16 am

Designer clothes are dumb and a waste of money. Buy something comfortable, and long-lasting. My shirts are around $20-30 a piece but they last a long time, so over time it's not a lot of money spent.

Clarence - November 2, 2018, 11:17 am

I could easily waste my money on clothes.

SIM-1349466 - November 2, 2018, 11:17 am

Not into designer clothes at all.

Neodraxis - November 2, 2018, 3:25 pm

Designer clothes are a waste of money!

ririki - November 2, 2018, 3:37 pm

I got some of designer clothes, however I don't see nothing special on them tbh made in vietnam, china or sri lanka for low wage sold for 5x more

WhyUs_ - November 2, 2018, 4:06 pm

I am a big buyer of designer but that's not my only clothing. I enjoy specific pieces, it's all about the flow of how you put it together with everything else though.

Redemption - November 2, 2018, 5:15 pm

I'm not a big fan of designer clothing. Never understood the appeal of wearing a shirt with a logo on it compared to the same shirt without the logo.

Walmart clothing is the best kind of clothing.
