Thread: Need a feel good/adventure anime

I just watched ordinal scale as well as the boy and the beast. Both I thought were good action/adventure and feel good movies. Got any movie suggestions based on those two?

HunterxHunter is the definition of a Feel Good / Adventure anime :D

Have you watched anymore or just them two?

You can try No Game No Life, The Tv Series and the Movie.

The art and animation of HunterxHunter have improved a lot over the original series. Miko and Fubuki look a lot more striking in this installment, and I really loved the character design for Shanahime. Sex scenes are depicted graphically, but they are not nearly as hardcore as the original series. I noticed that the tentacle scenes are milder, and the frequency of sexual scenes has been reduced dramatically. Unlike its predecessor, Lady Blue isn't sex-every-five-minutes. The English dubbing is very annoying. All the shrilly female voices made my ears hurt, so you're really better off watching this subtitled.
