Thread: You are immortal for the next 24 hours what do you do

Cryptic™ - November 2, 2018, 10:40 pm

I'd basically become a vigilante and get rid of some very evil and powerful world leaders.

Your immortal meaning can not die.

You also get enhanced abilities such as super strength, speed (not like the flash, but you run faster than normal), hearing.

When you become mortal again you are 100% healthy. No injuries. Fully healed.

Business - November 2, 2018, 10:41 pm

Do I still sustain injuries, and simply not die? Or, do I become invincible to damage/injuries?

SIM-3257834 - November 2, 2018, 10:41 pm

I'd do every drug known to man

You don't sustain any damages. Op updated.

?Apocalypse - November 2, 2018, 10:48 pm

I'd take a dive from the highest tower in my country.

wont be effective i think :D

I would eliminate the people i hate and rob a bank then convert all money to btc :*

Crypt - November 2, 2018, 10:51 pm

Let's just say I would go around cleaning up the streets ;).

Update: I take that last part back, that's stupid. I would rob people that deserve it ?

Elysium - November 2, 2018, 11:08 pm

I'd have a lot of blood drawn and sent off for testing to see if it was possible to recreate the effects after the invincibility wore off.

That's a good idea,
I'd do A LOT OF COKE and go into the war with Serbian mafia for a day and get rich. When they day is over, they'd be obliterated, I'd have took all their goods and we would have another president of the country (as he would be dead too).

Cryptic™ - November 2, 2018, 11:32 pm

Why do drugs when you can save the world. fuck trump

SIM-1349466 - November 2, 2018, 11:36 pm

Jump off the empire state building, enter area 51, get in a fight with a large group of people,etc...

To be honest... if it's only 24 hours, I'd rather be invisible!

emotionull - November 2, 2018, 11:46 pm

I would stab someone exactly three times, no more, no less.

Redemption - November 3, 2018, 12:57 am

I would more than likely just jump off of high places without any care. 24 hours is such a short amount of time so if you wanted to travel somewhere, that alone would take a couple hours if everything goes well. If robbing/killing people it would be nice not dying but again, after 24 hours you can be killed.

Invisibility would be extremely nice. One question I've always had regarding invisibility is will your fingerprints show up as well as do you gotta be completely naked to be completely invisible or does object that's attached/near/on you go invisible as well. Regardless of being immortal for 24 hours, it would bring a lot more issues in the long run.

Don't get caught, wear a mask/costume lol.

Narrate - November 3, 2018, 1:18 am

Yeah no, I wouldn't do anything. MAYBE try to rob a bank. But that's a big maybe.

24 hours isn't really enough time to do anything cool with invincibility in my opinion, as I feel like you really need some time to plan what you're going to do, and half the fun is having the reputation of being invincible. I would rather have super speed (like Flash style) for 24 hours.

Just FYI, banks don't really have vaults of cash. That is something hollywood made up.

Banks now days typically have an extremely heavy machine that dispenses cash.

Most banks don't have more than 30-50K on site.

If someone needs massive amounts of CASH it has to be ordered in advance.

At least that is how it is in Canada, not sure about the USA but pretty sure it is similar.

Elvira - November 3, 2018, 1:30 am

Probably make some crazy and large bets. If i do this i wont break this bone, or wont die etc.

Oh trust me, I'm well aware. It's actually probably much less than that here in America. But that's still a nice chunk of change, and you might as well get something out your invincibility.

And I really don't see how you could get anything out of it otherwise.

Maybe I'm just being small minded.

Dariustresor - November 3, 2018, 1:32 am

I will do everything to get a lot of money,,its very basic i know...

bananachocobo - November 3, 2018, 8:26 am

If I cut a body part, will it grow back? Since Holloween is still fresh, I'll just go scare people by chopping a body part. If they think its fake, I'll chop my head.

I don't want to go out and be a superhero killing druglords because my powers will only last 24 hours. I'd be tortured after 25 hours.

Takehito Morokuzu - November 3, 2018, 8:31 am

Probably go crazy, steal cars, explode them, basically just have as much fun as possible doing illegal things but of course I would hide my identity.

Or maybe I could improve the world, steal money from massive companies and spread out to desperate people, etc.

Just some ideas, I guess it depends on what my mind is up to that day, it varies a lot sometimes.

Assuming I wouldn't be wanted by the authorities I would probably fight ISIS in my country Imao stackgod - November 3, 2018, 9:19 am

I know I am probably going to receive hate for some parts of this answer, but if I was truly immortal...

I think the first thing I would do is every drug that I can possibly get my hands on. Why? To answer that question, I'll ask a counter question, why not? If I am immortal, then I can't destroy my brain or body because I cannot die. It also wouldn't be a waste of my life because my life is infinite. I'm just saying that, without a doubt, drugs are fun to do, otherwise people wouldn't do them. The only reason people don't do them is because they are a waste of time, or because they destroy your body and mind.

After I get done partying and having the time of my life, I would explore the ocean. Since I am immortal, oxygen deprivation and the crushing pressure of the deep sea wouldn't be able to kill me, and I think it would be awesome to see with my bare eyes what no man has seen before.

After exploring the depths of the earth, I would navigate the glorious skies. As in go skydiving! But without a parachute. Doesn't that sound awesome? To free fall to the earth without any apprehension of danger?

From there, I don't know what I would do, maybe I would begin a super-long career that would change the world. But if I ever got bored, I would simply cryofreeze myself. That's the process of rapidly lowering the body's temperature so as to put it into an artificial hibernation state. This actually can be accomplished today; however, unfreezing a person proves to be fatal because human cells form crystals as they thaw, which literally shred apart the body from the inside out. But, once again, I'm immortal, so if I ever get bored of a time period, I can just cryofreeze myself into the next!

Edit:

Because it was never specified in the question, I'm assuming that immortal means that each and every cell in my body cannot be destroyed or harmed.

Calibur - November 3, 2018, 9:21 am

I'd get super speed, super strength & invulnerability? Then i'd go search all the jungles & mountains on my country and kill all these fucking communist rebel. Imma wipe their ass off this planet.

Technically you being immortal doesn't mean you can't be unconscious. Otherwise, no sleep would be a living hell.
