Thread: Those self pro claimed "sociopaths"

turbosoggy - November 4, 2018, 5:46 am

Holy fuck these people are all over the internet, nothing makes me cringe more than a 14 year old claiming to be a sociopath or psychopath to try and act like a badass.

Also shout out to the Einstein that reverse engineered photosynthesis in grade 5

We have a handful of sociopaths on this forum. :)

What's bad is people pretending to have such a disease as an excuse for lacking sympathy, empathy.

Neodraxis - November 4, 2018, 6:55 am

I'm a former / future sociopath as soon as I resolve my DD's.

PerfectStorm - November 4, 2018, 6:59 am

I am absolutely crazy and insane

Wolf - November 4, 2018, 7:16 am

I'm lacking empathy, but I can imitate it very well.

Yes and that's what you should do, not go on and have a criminal behavior because it's your so-called "nature".

emotionull - November 4, 2018, 8:19 am

Labeling yourself as such is lame. You just gotta lay back and chill.

I feel this actually. I rarely feel bad for others especially with just dumb shit, but I can act like I give a shit and get by.

People whine over dumb stuff

1/25 in a room, remember this

I learn' it from a ginger guy.

Hello.v4.0 - November 4, 2018, 2:12 pm

APD is pretty fucking rare, and anybody who outright claims they are a sociopath is most likely not one. It's mostly a case of people realizing they're stoic and going "whoa i have no feelings i must be the next ted bundy"

jesuschristisfake - November 4, 2018, 2:17 pm

It all started from the Shane Dawson's Jake Paul series lol

sh4moon - November 4, 2018, 2:27 pm

the trick is to be a low-key sociopath. I'm the opposite of the kind of people that op is talking about. I don't diagnose myself with anything. people I know think I have mild depression though.

jesuschristisfake - November 4, 2018, 2:31 pm

I legit think 90% of them who are self-proclaimed sociopaths did it because it was/is cool or need attention or the feeling of importance in the society, like "oh yeah, I'm a sociopath, it's definitely not a big deal, but it is" lol

Also, don't forget that there are other mental issues like this which may not indicate you are a sociopath, maybe you just like to control people or you don't care about people but u have emotions etc

vagabond - November 4, 2018, 2:34 pm

sociopaths dont exist, thats just a word used for people who havent found the light yet

gore - November 4, 2018, 3:38 pm

I remember thinking I was one for a time, but I don't have any issue with empathy or sympathy so probs not.

Also, not something you'd ever really want to get diagnosed with anyways because I'm sure your name will end up on an official list somewhere, lol.

Pyro - November 4, 2018, 3:40 pm

we are all some kind of sociopaths to be honest
