I contacted HCIM to buy some PSN's. He told me he would sell me $75 worth of PSN's at 60%.

Afterwards, he gives me his skype and we talk on there.

Proof that's actually him on skype. <https://imgur.com/cWuQnty>

We chat for a while and afterwards I send the payment. He tells me to wait for confirmations so I wait about 1-2 hours. Once I contact him and ask if he's ready to send the PSN's, he simply stops responding but still reads my messages.

When I send him messages on here, he simply reads them and doesn't reply. If your going to do any type of deal with this guy, please be cautious.

Man, where's the contract link? Please tell me you have it?

TyTy24 - November 8, 2018, 7:24 pm

Hopefully you did use a contract, right?

Damn dude glad you used a contract at least. Hope you get this resolved

First and foremost, I'd like to apologize to Scrying. Guy came to me to do business and I immediately had a good vibe from him. After talking, we agreed upon a deal to be done and opened a contract. I acted in this deal, disingenuously. I made it seem (to the buyer) that I readily had available what he wanted. After he paid, I tried to buy his product from a cheaper source and make a few quick dollars reselling. When my deal with my source went sideways and I did not get what I paid for. Embarrassed and ashamed, I stopped contacting Scrying.

Today I messaged OP privately expressing my regret and reassuring him he would receive exactly what he paid. I'm glad I could be a man of my word and resolve this issue. Big thanks to Scrying for being understanding. I deserved to have these threads opened on me, but I am glad I could do the right thing to get them closed thereafter.

Things to learn from this Don't be afraid to talk to your buyer I'm sure he would have accepted a refund

2 It's not worth making a deal if you don't have the item at hand it's not worth the hassle
