Thread: Youtube 2018 Video Award Contest

Omniscient - November 9, 2018, 7:51 pm

I am now offering the award to those who create a Youtube video under one of these three concepts.

1. Testimonial - Possibly the easiest of the concepts. Simply make a YT video that tells us why HF is so great and what it's done for you personally.
2. Tutorial - Create a video to teach new members how to do things on HF. An example might be how to use the Contracts system or possibly how to upgrade. HF has many things which confuse new members. Having some quality tutorial videos would be excellent.
3. Promotional - This would be an advertisement style video hopefully with the highest production. I really challenge those with video creation and editing skills to go for this one.

The best video in each category will get 5,000 Bytes. The best overall video will get 10,000 Bytes. Everyone that submits a video meeting the criteria will get the Youtube 2018 award .

Requirements and Rules:

1. Video length must be 30 seconds minimum but I assume high quality videos could be much longer.
 2. Must have "HackForums" or "HackForums.net" in video title.
 3. Description of video must have a link to "https://hackforums.net".
 4. Video must be public and not privately listed.
 5. Submissions must be entered by December 1st, 2018 to be eligible for the Bytes prize.
- Staff/Admins will choose the video winners.

To submit you should post your video in this thread with the YT MyCode tags.

Code [yt]<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=llMmsljgDYI>[/yt]

Any questions?

Biggy - November 9, 2018, 7:53 pm

Good stuff Omniscient.

I've been wanting to do a YouTube tutorial for awhile, funny enough, on the Contracts system and how to use it. Guess now's a good time. :)

iNviZ - November 9, 2018, 7:54 pm

Awesome, glad to see this back.

SIM-3257834 - November 9, 2018, 7:54 pm

Whoever picked that song for that video picked an awful choice, should have used the YT anthem.

luke - November 9, 2018, 7:55 pm

I'll probably go for a tutorial video on Contracts. Sounds like good fun.

Steve - November 9, 2018, 7:56 pm

Looking forward to seeing the submissions. Let's get some high quality videos and exposure!

Nuworld - November 9, 2018, 7:57 pm

This will be very fun and interesting.

Lets see who is number two to get this award.

Thanks Omni for doing this.

B?ker - November 9, 2018, 8:01 pm

Do I need to upload it to YT or can I upload it to Vimeo?

Do we have to make it ourselves? Or can we use a platform like Fiverr, like people have done in the past?

Almonds - November 9, 2018, 8:25 pm

I'm gonna whore this award!

Mark my words!!!!

Nate - November 9, 2018, 8:28 pm

Cameron - November 9, 2018, 8:31 pm

Awesome! I might copy the end of that old Australia advertising campaign video and end it with "Where the bloody hell are ya!?"

You can expect my submission in the next two days. I missed out on the original YT Award sadly.

Mr. Robot - November 9, 2018, 8:59 pm

(We working on a group project for this anywho - well mainly Fortunate and I)

Other than that, I Have made a few 'promotional' videos for HF in the past using good ol' fiverr.

Like early 2017. They're replaced with "End Cards". Check the last 25 seconds of this video to see how it looks.

[Video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=PWv8lT8EV64>]

The only 2 options now are :End cards (which shows at the last 20 seconds of the video, and (pop up cards which are on the top right corner).

I think the feature is now called "Cards" and you have to be a YouTube partner to link to external links.

EDIT: Looks like you got the award so don't worry :)

Forgive me father for I have sinned

Business - November 10, 2018, 10:51 pm

A while back I had the idea to create an HF advertisement, using only HF members. Once I decided to run with the idea, I had to choose what style to take the video in. I imagined a video of someone browsing HF, and a narrator explaining each page. Once the style was selected and the script was compiled, I had to find a narrator and a video editor. Recently I started talking with "Computer Craft", a member known well for his hash cracking abilities... and his voice. He agreed to work on the project and approved of the script. Some of you may have seen the HF Bytes/Gambling video I posted, which was created in collaboration with Fortunate. Fortunate and I met through Sociopaths, so I asked him to edit the final draft for the ad. In my opinion, he did a great job meshing the video with the narration in a seamless way.

This is not what Omniscient was making this thread for.

Filming a piece of paper with music in the background does not fit in the 3 available concepts therefore it doesn't matter if you meet the basic requirements.

Available video concepts:

1. Testimonial - Possibly the easiest of the concepts. Simply make a YT video that tells us why HF is so great and what it's done for you personally.
2. Tutorial - Create a video to teach new members how to do things on HF. An example might be how to use the Contracts system or possibly how to upgrade. HF has many things which confuse new members. Having some quality tutorial videos would be excellent.
3. Promotional - This would be an advertisement style video hopefully with the highest production. I really challenge those with video creation and editing skills to go for this one.

This video isn't teaching anything to anyone, it also doesn't tell why HF is so great and this is definitely not an advertisement styled video either, it's a statement and a website link written on a piece of paper nothing advertisement styled about this.

No it's just that i see members that keep asking when they receive the award, it might be the issue that they do fit the requirements but don't fit in any concept properly.

Tried to explain that with my reply it wasn't an attack to him personally actually but rather to how he and others choose to make their video.

It's a cool tutorial video thoAs far as I concerned the video wouldn't exist without me, which makes me just as necessary as the other members of the group. Also, a bad script would have set Craft up for failure, and if I had found a worse narrator, Fortunate would have less to work with. It was an entire group effort and the video wouldn't exist without each member. Side note, NOT a tutorial video at all lol.

I'll be cocky until I feel someone made a better video. I'm expecting some really solid entries towards the end date.

Nah man, you just needed to write up a better script and not use early 2000s themes such as smaller windows with writing on the sides and it would have been 10/10 IMO. There's plenty of things wrong with mine however I believe there is enough right with it to be beneficial in the long run for HF. I was going to make something similar to what i've submitted even before this contest was announced so having a chance at winning anything is just simply a bonus.

Yes there were a few issues with translation of the script as stated in the description however I decided to just leave it in.

Pointing out things wrong with my video in order however when it comes to DBs as much as I want to use that for advertising HF I also had to mention the fact we don't share them onsite so give me credit for that.

1. 0:21 - LeakedIn not LinkedIn
2. 0:51 HF is just poorly skewed into the monitor
3. 1:38 HF is just poorly skewed into the monitor + no girls on the internet.
4. 1:48 melody+harmony are said on top of back to back images of cars.
5. 2:23 "as just recently slots, blackjack that you can play using bytes earned from making posts and having people reply to your threads.
(if you are foreign and don't see what's wrong with number 5, simply put - it should be either slots and blackjack or slots, blackjack AND something else.)

I mean it's not good to point out the biggest flaws in the promoted content especially for a contest however it's all about learning and that's what we do here on HF :)

Once I decided to run with the idea, I had to choose what style to take the video in. I imagined a video of someone browsing HF, and a narrator explaining each page. Once the style was selected and the script was compiled, I had to find a narrator and a video editor. Recently I started talking with "Computer Craft", a member known well for his hash cracking abilities... and his voice. He agreed to work on the project and approved of the script. I was planning on making a more detailed video on my end, mainly showing off the bytes feature and the bytes games that were recently added to hf, but i too have been procrastinating, and got a little lazy, so i kinda just threw something totally fuckin basic on Sony Vegas using some south park clips i downloaded and some clips i recorded of me playing hf blackjack and browsing the lottery section. I know i could have done wayy better, but it takes me a while to really put together something good on vegas. I just wanted to make something quick and easy for the hell of it.

tl;dr: i was too lazy to put in all my effort into a video, so i put something quick and silly together using clips from south park, and recordings of me browsing some sections.

Such a great video.... Holy shit & well said brother!

Every community I've ever been apart of has always been plagued by the same older members shouting that the "community is dying; it's not how it use to be; FUCK THE ADMINS!", etc. It's a fact, that shit changes over time and some people want to stay living in the past always and are not open to new experiences. Guaranteed if the forum never progressed and modernized from 5 years ago or whatever, then that everyone would have left by now because that shit becomes boring..... We need new shit like Bytes and new fresh faces around the site to spice shit up!

Additionally, I like the same thing about the forum as you do, the fact that, although it's a primarily hacking/technology-based forum, there is still basically every kind of discussion here. If I need help with Linux.... I can get it here. If I decide to play a game... I can find some help here, or some dudes to game with! If I ever need movie recommendations, some new genres of music or some guy to help me learn graphic design... It's here! I never need to sign up to new communities anymore, which is something I used to frequently do before I was a member of this forum, because I simply needed help with some specific stuff. That's what makes Hack Forums truly special, it's a forum for all things. Ironically one thing that is kind of harder to find help with on here is actually hacking. But that's really because cyber security as a whole has progressed so much these years and very few people are actually at those top levels. Hack Forums, much like any other forums, finds it difficult to attract those kind of people, but there certainly are a load of very experienced members on here, just not too many active anymore. I hope maybe we can appeal more to the hacking community in the future but anyway, HF remains a forum for basically anything which is great!

I have nothing against him or his submission i even mentioned that he has my vote to win this whole contest, him and Mr.Robot.

I asked him if he created it himself or if he used a template and he said that he used a template and he edited it.

I'm also one of those members trying to help out HF by purchasing multiple donation awards and by inviting friends to this community and have them upgrade to L33T even before they made an introduction thread.

I've also applied an animated promotional video in this contest to help out HF, i could have gone for a zoom in/out on a white piece of paper like some people did but i didnt.

Because I've seen you ask him 3 times already when he's already answered the question twice.

And you are totally right but you can notice if you think properly that in every answer there is a time interval which says it will be announced in that time interval and none of them happened, that's why my very rightful claim is to ask again, right? Don't argue with a lawyer man :) I am sorry but if someone claims to do something in some time interval, it needed to be done in that time otherwise you can ask for it again or in real life you can go to court. We are not in real life situation here, hence I am asking again.

You say you're a lawyer is irrelevant to the conversation and your way to try and intimidate me. You also mention it's not real life so why do you care so much about who won? Omni is busy and will get to it when he gets to it.

"I am sorry but if someone claims to do something in some time interval, it needed to be done in that time otherwise you can ask for it again or in real life you can go to court."

"We are not in real life situation here."

If we are not in real life why are you bringing the courtroom into an online contest? LMFAO

Also, a lawyer would have far more fluid grammar and punctuation than you do.

Contradict yourself some more. You obviously haven't been around long enough to realize shit is Omni's way, not when someone bothers him about it.

hey, you're the guy who PMd me a warm welcome to this forum. thanks :3

anyway, creating a video like that is too hard for me, I make cringy vids but I'll try

You're far too late to make a video for an award.

Lmao, dial it back about 40% there super chief lawyer pants.

Who gives a fuck when he gets to it, the more you badger him about it the longer he'll probably take. I wouldn't be surprised if he said fuck this guy and threw your video to the side already, I know I would have.

He clearly hasn't forgotten considering he's posted a handful of times about it. Christmas is just wrapping up and new years is around the corner. They just announced work on new site features. I'm fairly certain giving your ass free bytes is pretty fucking low on his list of shit to take care of.

whit3 - December 29, 2018, 7:50 am

Firstly, guys? Why do you care this shit so much? I mean if I ask or not, just go and do you work right? But no, because I am not that old as you are, because I work hard and ask too many questions huh? You know what I will defend my thought for the last time and leave you alone here. Say whatever you want, OK? Because I don't give a shit about what you say, I can see that you can lick asses but that is not the way.

Even I am not blaming anyone about this contest announcement or whatever, I am just asking to get a response but you are trying to make an argument on it. This content is made and I applied because I wanted to help HackForums grow further, but you guys just trying to stop me be who I am.

Whatever...

Firstly, I am not trying to intimidate anyone. I just tried to get a response on this thread because it said to be announced weeks ago and didn't (btw not trying to blame anyone just saying because that's the reason I was asking).

I am not caring it so much, be sure it is the least important thing in this forum for me.

I didn't say I am a lawyer with native English or in practicing in English-spoken country, did I?

I don't know Omni so much and his ways, but learning is my problem, not yours I guess.

I believe he wouldn't get angry about people who like to help HackForum grow or do their job on time or asks fairly and respectfully?

Be careful Omni, whit3 is gonna take your ass to court for being busy over some pixels.

But for real whit3, let me break down your last point:

We are not in real life situation here, hence I am asking again

Uh is this not real life?

One must assume not considering the award is called 2018.
