Thread: Underworld.net // New Small Community // Custom Theme // General Discussion

N1ghtm4re - November 11, 2018, 8:21 pm

Underworld <http://underworld.net/> Hi,

I've started a new Small Community that I plan on working on diligently to make the best out of and learn as a forum owner with over time. Underworld isn't meant to be as big as HackForums or even be a competitor, Underworld is meant to stay in it's own lane and be a Small Community where people may not post Everyday, but pop in and out once or twice a day, or maybe even every other day to participate in General Discussions.

If you're looking to become part of a nice Small Community, Underworld is here for you!

Underworld is still being developed, but I've decided to open it up to the public so I can get opinion and form a community as I go along with adding things to it. There's still some pages I plan on remodeling, and plugins to be added etc but it's stable enough for use as of right now.

Please stop by and join me in Open Discussion!

Code "this won't go anywhere"

It isn't meant to go anywhere.

"another forum? you're wasting your time and money"

yeah probably but who cares, I enjoy it so -shrug-

"doom failed what makes you think this will be different?"

Doom didn't fail, my living conditions changed so I had to close it down.

"general discussion never works" like I said, this isn't meant to have thousands or even hundreds of members.

"literally any Nachfolger post"

I do not care

NuckingFutz™ - November 12, 2018, 6:29 am

I'm wondering why you would even post this here if you know people in the know will ask questions about the choices you made.

If it's not meant to go anywhere then what's the point - other than having fun with it of course, which is perfectly fine but that raises the question above. And it seems obvious that it's gonna be hard to make this work if you are aiming for less than 100 active members. There is no reason why anyone would leave HF to go to a significantly less popular forum when they both are even covering the same.

You need to give the user something they aren't getting anywhere else, or at the very least something rare.

I registered and have made some posts mate. See you around!

See I can tell you misunderstand the purpose already. I'm not expecting anyone to leave HF, why would I when even I am an active poster here and intend to keep it that way?

The point is for me to get better at css, html, and other things as I run a small community for fun. I don't have interest in competing with anyone whatsoever whoever joins, joins, and whoever doesn't, doesn't.

I'd elaborate further but I just woke up.

What's the difference between this and Doom aside from the name?

N1ghtm4re - November 12, 2018, 10:17 am

Theme, Plugins, Members, Purpose, Me. Doom was a Technology forum generally, Underworld is not.

Underworld is also a lot more stable than Doom was (lol) but I plan on making Underworld better than Doom, and making it into what I wanted Doom to be.

I still own Doom, just haven't decided on a plan for it yet. A lot of people tend to think I make forums to "go big" or "make money" I really just enjoy making them, regardless if they're different or not, I just enjoy running things my way you know?

I find it to be quite fun when done decently.

Good luck with your forum. Ignore anyone who tries to deter you from going forward with these projects. Sometimes people go through hundreds of iterations of an idea before they find one that is really successful. Even if this one isn't, you'll surely learn something along the way. :)

Exactly this, couldn't have worded it better myself. Thank you for being the only one who seems to understand.

On another note, Hosting will be paid tomorrow lul have to put money in the bank.

Here are some of my thoughts bud

1. Work on your theme more. Give it some more life, maybe a background image, and definitely soften the font (way too white + bold).
2. Switch up on your domain name to something brandable and related to your site.

Don't listen to anyone that wants to bash you. Take real suggestions and put yourself to work. Your site is only going to go as far as your passion will take you. With it being said that you don't plan on making this a successfully large forum, you can do whatever you please. If your end goal isn't to have a million members you'd be saving yourself a lot of work.

Good luck with everything!

How about sending me your Discord?

The theme is fine, I plan on eventually adding a background artwork amongst other things, I think the bold to nonbold ratio is fine.

Change my domain for what? To what? GeneralForums? {randomword}forums.net? I'll pass. I prefer to make my own identity whenever I make forums. Underworld is brandable.

But, thanks?

Your domain is pretty cool. I might signup as it would be the first forum I've signed up on that doesn't have forum in the URL

emotionull - November 17, 2018, 9:30 pm

I suggest making the font a little bigger.

<https://gyazo.com/2a24a17f11ecf4cf996e8c293871d60d>

I also suggest getting a SSL as you don't atm.

bottom links don't work as well btw.

* WOOF! *

I'll add Htpps soon. I'm more so focused on getting things Onsite setup first.

Underwurd runs MyBB, however SMF is in the Footer as a Joke.

If anyone has any recommendations for Background Artwork, feel free to recommend!

It's in relation to him saying the domain isn't brandable, I'm saying unique names are brandable.
(insert generic word)forums.net isn't brandable because it's generic and everyone uses it, exhibit A being the forum you are reading this post on.

Oh haha I was like what does this guy have going on but I see. Yeah that's basically the point I was trying to make as well, you also limit yourself by doing that. Example being Omni considering renaming HF due to it being less Hack-savy here lately.

Quote:Underworld is currently down. I'm going to be transforming it into an Underground Art forum. It'll probably be back up and open next month. I'm currently working on This, and reviving my older forum Doom.sx which is also down and being worked on in the background.

Just an update.

Looks like you can't pay your bill?

or maybe it's a DNS misconfiguration?

shockhosting.net is a pretty cheap host, so whats the deal? This is just super bad advertising for your website. Even the waybackmachine (https://web.archive.org/web/*/http://underworld.net/) doesn't have anything indexed, so it must not have been online very long.

You are by far the most annoying kind of member HackForums has to offer, do you not see the Date this thread was posted? 11-11-2018, 08:21 PM of which it was Bumped by a Spam account.

I do not care for your reviewing, or your rating when the site was obviously unreachable from the moment you clicked the link; thus meaning you were just attempting at being annoying with this post.

I still Own Underworld, I'm working on various things for my forums which is why they are down.

"Looks like you can't pay your bill?"

"shockhosting.net is a pretty cheap host, so whats the deal?"

Don't ever try to do me, I can pay the bill anytime I feel like it. I clearly don't care enough to do so, go on, find someone else to bother.
