I offer ideas that can be helpful to some people, and lesson that are proven to work. Just because the information I provided was not what you were looking for doesn't mean it's a waste of time for everyone.

You are losing credibility with each comment you post. What you are saying doesn't make any sense.

I think your user name says it all.

Based on your comments, I think its same to assume you are just trolling me at this point.
