Thread: Getting a shit ton of mails

Stixio - November 15, 2018, 8:17 am

Hello there.

My main mail is really fucked up at the moment. I am getting so many mails from unwanted people. Take a look>

You are getting promotional emails from companies maybe you should consider unsubscribing them.

That's what happens when you put your email in every form you have the chance to.

I know how it feels...
you are not alone...

Greetings,

? You should check mine. One of my emails, I just gave up on it. Too much to manage. Over 9k mails still unread.

Regards.

OP, it's called unsubscribing.

CALMS Act (Wikipedia)

All usa service providers required to assist/backdoor for LE.

In addition, we've heard of Google releasing IPs and tracking everything u do online with analytics. Google tracks you and your mom.

I reccomend Protonmail, a service that has a hidden service so even they dont see your actual IP.

And unsubscribing can increase the rate of emails because it validates the email as active.
