Thread: Screen recorder software?

What programs you guys use for recording a screen but not a game. I was using free trial of Camtasia and it was pretty good with its editor. Bandicam is also good and output size is small as I want but it doesn't record more than 10 minutes and putting watermarks on videos. I need to record 1h+ videos

So I'm looking for recommendations, especially free ones :)

I really like Camtasia, many options to choose from.

I bought it cheap a long time ago.

I bought it cheap a long time ago. I wanted to buy it but it is very expensive, since I'm not going to use it very much and professionally I can't pay that.

Did you buy from original website or somewhere else?

I can hook you up with Bandicam, just send me a PM.

If you are looking for the best quality then Action is your program.

Action Records at most 3,840x2,160 @ 144 FPS @ 8,000 Mbps.

It can also do Record separate audio outputs and inputs in different files, add overlays, add webcam, automatical split videos, Time Shift, hardware acceleration, record in either MP4 or AVI, game capture, screen capture, area capture, device capture, take screenshots, live stream, and a lot more.

A about a year ago I picked up an copy from

<https://icecreamapps.com/Screen-Recorder/upgrade.html>

Not to expensive, user friendly, works fine.
