Thread: im concerned about omniscient

phuckboy - November 23, 2018, 2:18 pm

so ive seen a lot of posts from our administrator, omniscient about young celebrities. he likes to mention that they dont own a lot of money even if it seems like it, and the cars etc they have is leased. do yall think omni is getting stressed / depressed? why else would he mention that so often? im concerned. maybe we need to come together and donate. this is not a troll topic. i dont ever want omni to sell HF or something, i love him and appreciate him. and i seriously want to make everything to make him feel good

Our admin supports a family and a nice house from HF, I don't see how one could be miserable except when reading retarded threads like this

I reccomend you get an admin to delete this post.

Hey all in this community, the OP is trying to be a decent human being even if it comes across a little strangely.

He's never selling it. And it's going to go to the grave with him (hopefully that does not happen for a long time).

He's stated those things multiple times.

You're the type of person to lurk in bushes out the front of peoples houses.
You don't need to know what he does with his life.

C'mon guys the OPs question is a bit goofy but it comes out of a place of kindness haha

Arizonalce - November 23, 2018, 2:44 pm

Is this a Omni Shill to make us donate? Lol

Do not disrespect him. if you want to be sarcastic, learn how to use your words even if you're 14. ?

So much negativity in this thread OP message seemed like it came from a good place. He's noticed a few trends that could suggest Omnis stressed or depressed.

Not saying he is or isn't but it's nice to think there are some people out there with the sense to pick up on things like this. Too many people stay quiet when they notice things wrong and this is why the suicide rates are so high these days. Even if you're wrong it's better to speak up and look a fool rather than doing nothing.
