Profile: <https://hackforums.net/marketcp.php?action=profile&uid=2025980>

Contract: <https://hackforums.net/contracts.php?action=view&cid=12575>

Bought a Blizzard account from D????????????????ark last month for $45. Should've expected something to happen, seeing that he sold me a $130 game bundle for $45 lol.

Anyways, here are all of the messages:

My first offer: <http://prntscr.com/lmr8bf>

Follow-up PM: <http://prntscr.com/lmr8jw>

Finalizing on the deal: <http://prntscr.com/lmr8sf>

Asking whether he wants USD or Euro: <http://prntscr.com/lmr96o>

Payment proof: <http://prntscr.com/lmr9fn> (attached link: <https://prnt.sc/l7z5n6>)

Account confirmation: <http://prntscr.com/lmr9yp>

Email I received about 10 days ago once I changed the account's Yopmail to my Gmail:

Oof.

That's unfortunate. GL getting your money back.

Appreciate it.

Not even pissed about the money. I'm more angry that he sold me an account knowing how the game was obtained.

ZERO2SIX - November 25, 2018, 8:24 am always sad to see people gettin scammed here

PerfectStorm - November 25, 2018, 3:15 pm

By the way, you forgot to censor the order ID in one of the snapshots. Not sure why you are censoring them to begin with.

I would update your rep for him too lmao

Ram - November 25, 2018, 4:08 pm

Well kind of your fault. Did you ask him how he obtained it. He is not entitled to refund unless you stated in contract which you didnt and nobody sells new game acc for that low so it shouldve been a hint for you to avoid the purchase.

Dar?k - November 25, 2018, 10:10 pm

I thought you meant me for a second lol.

What do you mean not entitled to refund him. So if I sell someone something and they chargeback, they're not entitled to refund me unless I told them in the contract that they can't chargeback their payment?

Business - November 26, 2018, 1:21 am

Happens to the best of us. Sorry for your trouble homie.

What are you talking about? He is the buyer in this case lol and acc stopped working, if seller said acc is hacked and not personal which you can figure out by that low price and if he didnt state that he offers warranty he is not entitled to refund.

Definitely not my fault. If he listed a term of service and stated within the terms that he's not responsible for what happens to the account, then it would be my fault, however that's not the case.

Seller never said how the account was obtained. Please once again explain how this is my fault that I unknowingly bought a carded account. zzz

Quote:hmu if interested, has the extended deluxe edition but since the cod points arent available to us right away im selling cheap.

price: $35

35$ for 100€ worth of acc. Nobody would sell something so cheap so yeah it was kind of obvious mate.

I don't see that being obvious at all.

People on here sell AGC for 30%-40% off daily and 99% of the deals are done smoothly.

Game just got released. G2a sells for 60€ for standard edition. How do you think he got it? He probably bought there charged back seller and activated on random acc and sold to you. AGC isnt even accepted on bnet so I dont know how is that relevant to the case.

The relevancy is that discounts are actually a thing. I offered a service where I could get literally any product for 50% off and it wasn't carded.

You're reaching and it's super annoying. If you don't have anything useful to contribute, please see your way off my thread.

Thanks.

Im allowed to post what I want, and just because im not on your side cuz you make a reckless deal that screwed you in the end. Next time learn to make a proper contract. Gotta learn the hard way. Cya.

whit3 - November 26, 2018, 11:03 pm

I hope you can resolve it and recover your lost.

Armada - November 28, 2018, 4:06 pm

Every day I see people do stupider shit around here every single day....

Good luck trying to resolve this brotha.

1st off, if I was Lukas I would assume the account was either

- A) cracked
- B) unused balance

Selling carded items is scum, if you think this is Lukas fault your actually retarded. Dark is a scumbag for this and deserved the ban. Cracking is way different from carding. jS

SIM-3257834 - November 29, 2018, 2:42 pm

People who card are better off dead.

Im just saying he shouldve been smart and figured that it was cracked same as people buy netflix acc for 1$ and hope it works forever. Ofc its your fault. If you want everlasting acc buy it from retail lel. He doest have actual proof its carded. Im 99% sure its obtained thro g2a refund method and then seller chargedback/submitted ticket tor refund on blizzard and it looks like user carded it. Unless he directly sent the gift from bnet account then he should provide then proof and I will agree that Dark is a scum that carded this acc.

G0dzSoldiers - November 29, 2018, 3:10 pm

That's kinda gay Anyways hope this is resolved!

But again Battle net was clear it was a charge back by the bank; <https://prnt.sc/lmrat9>

AKA Carding not that account was unauthorized or anything of that nature

Yeah but doesnt prove Dark was the one who made the chargeback. It will probably be the G2A seller from which this guy(Dark) got key from because he sold the acc not an actual key which isnt allowed by HF rules anyways. Cuz for example If I'm G2A seller, I sold the key, and user reports that its not working. I, as Seller of the key, can always chargeback through bank for 100% money retrieval and the user who got the key will get his game removed and I will win my money back even if bnet doesnt help. I believe this is that case. I'm not saying Dark is innocent but Its like buying netflix acc, it works for a period of time and this happens. Its not a first time something like this occurred. Mostly people specify a warranty of some kind or atleast ask IF there is some but here in this contract there is nothing like that.

From somebody familiar with refunding, it's incredibly difficult to succeed at G2A refunds nowadays. It's not as simple as it was a few months ago. You can't simply file a claim through PP saying your code was already used anymore.

If I did enough digging, I could guarantee it was charged back from the bank directly.

At the end of the day dark did something fraudulent not on Lukas.

If dark can show proof of purchase from g2a it would be beneficial to his case and proof that it wasnt jim, if not its safe to say he is a scammer.
