Thread: \(FollowLiker\) Best settings for auto DMs on Twitter?

DoxM3 - November 25, 2018, 10:11 am

I have about 6 or 7 accounts running and sometimes it sends a lot sometimes it doesn't right now I have it set to 1000 on every setting in the dm section. The accounts are aged they've been up for years and I mass follow every day so just looking for suggestions thanks!

That means that your followback ratio is not stable. Do you have the bot to DM only new followers?

I switch on and off, should I be scraping current followers all the time because that does take a long time

Why do you switch on and off?

Also do you have a variety of messages or you dm the same message to everyone?

Just because I thought it would get more messages out there to the scraped followers of other accounts, same message.

Don't send the same message! You probably get on DM blocks and that is why your DM amount is inconsistent.

Would ticking the "make every message unique" option help lol

I don't know what that option really does, but I doubt they have a text spinner in the tool.
