

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Deny purchased signatures or buy back option.

Crypt - November 25, 2018, 9:34 pm

What if someone purchases your signature and adds something to your signature you simply don't like or support? I think there should be some type of deny option or perhaps an option to pay back the bytes to regain control of your signature.

I haven't run into this issue yet but I can see it happening. Thoughts on this?

Business - November 25, 2018, 11:29 pm

People can put whatever they want in the signature, so if that worries you, you may want to opt-out of the Signature Market.

Crypt - November 25, 2018, 11:32 pm

(Nov 26, 2018 12:29 AM)?usiness Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) People can put whatever they want in the signature, so if that worries you, you may want to opt-out of the Signature Market.

No, I think they should add some more control where you can buy back your signature but perhaps have to pay a 5% interest fee maybe.

Business - November 25, 2018, 11:34 pm

(Nov 26, 2018 12:32 AM)Canny Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) No, I think they should add some more control where you can buy back your signature but perhaps have to pay a 5% interest fee maybe. Why post your signature for sale if you're just going to buy it back for a premium? The point of the Signature Market is that once someone buys your signature, it is a blank canvas for them... as long as they abide by site rules.

Crypt - November 25, 2018, 11:38 pm

(Nov 26, 2018 12:34 AM)?usiness Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Why post your signature for sale if you're just going to buy it back for a premium? The point of the Signature Market is that once someone buys your signature, it is a blank canvas for them... as long as they abide by site rules.

I suppose so.

Many members don't support e-whoring but it's not against the rules. I sure as shit wouldn't want some E-whore advertisement as my signature for a week. In cases like that, I think there should be an option to regain control of your signature.

Anyways, I stated my reasoning and we'll have to see what Omni says.

Business - November 25, 2018, 11:48 pm

(Nov 26, 2018 12:38 AM)Canny Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I suppose so.

Many members don't support e-whoring but it's not against the rules. I sure as shit wouldn't want some E-whore advertisement as my signature for a week. In cases like that, I think there should be an option to regain control of your signature.

Anyways, I stated my reasoning and we'll have to see what Omni says. That's when you make your usertitle "Paid Signature, not a sponsor."

eXceptional - November 25, 2018, 11:57 pm

I <3 Canny

that was a bit weird for me

Crypt - November 26, 2018, 12:01 am

(Nov 26, 2018 12:57 AM)eXceptional Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I <3 Canny

that was a bit weird for me

If only there was a "buy back" option.

Vyxn - November 26, 2018, 12:29 am

(Nov 26, 2018 12:32 AM)Canny Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) No, I think they should add some more control where you can buy back your signature but perhaps have to pay a 5% interest fee maybe.

If the signature is following the site policy then you should not worry anything.

Evanescent - November 26, 2018, 1:23 am

Or you could just ask the buyer to change the signature and return the Bytes.

webdev77 - November 26, 2018, 6:16 am

I could support this for obvious reasons. Because I'm a good sport about it I'm following through with it, but honestly I believe what my purchased sig space currently is could very easily count as abuse of the system. I had to disable to my PMs as a result.

?lex - November 26, 2018, 6:17 am

(Nov 26, 2018 07:16 AM)webdev77 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I could support this for obvious reasons. Because I'm a good sport about it I'm following through with it, but honestly I believe what my purchased sig space currently is could very easily count as abuse of the system. I had to disable to my PMs as a result.

I like your signature.

PerfectStorm - November 26, 2018, 6:20 am

(Nov 26, 2018 02:23 AM)Evanescent Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Or you could just ask the buyer to change the signature and return the Bytes.

A pretty simple solution here. If they agree.

Evanescent - November 26, 2018, 6:36 am

(Nov 26, 2018 07:20 AM)PerfectStorm Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) A pretty simple solution here. If they agree. Yeah mutual understanding is must in this case.

Omniscient - November 26, 2018, 7:15 am

Unless the signature violates policy it will not be removed.

Ram - December 3, 2018, 10:44 am

I think if you sell your sig space people can put whatever they want that doesnt violate the forum rules.

TCP - December 4, 2018, 9:54 am

There is an alert icon saying the signature was purchased, even if they troll you it's not a big deal